JOJI

NECTAR

OVERVIEW:

Japan-born singer and producer Joji is a multi-talented visionary, with a cult following from every corner of the internet. Joji is one of the most enthralling artists of the digital age. He has a total vision for his work, not just in the writing and producing of his music, but artwork, videos, merch, and live performances as well. It's a fully realized world that his fans can inhabit and explore—and see themselves in. “My music is not biographical,” he says, but even still, the deep, heavily shaded emotions in his songs are genuine and they speak to anyone who has ever felt stuck on the outside looking in, who knows what it means to not belong. In 2019, Joji sold-out his North America tour within minutes and performed at some of the most coveted festivals across the world, including Reading & Leeds in the UK and Lollapalooza. As Joji surpasses 5 billion global streams, 2020 promises to be his biggest year to date.

Joji's sophomore studio album, Nectar, arrives September 25. With a star-studded cast of features across the 18-track album, Nectar is Joji's most ambitious project to date. From the first 4 singles alone, Nectar has already garnered 750M+ streams—with “Sanctuary” earning RIAA Gold certification. “Daylight,” the fourth pre-release track from Nectar, is an anthemic summertime hit featuring crisp Diplo production. It follows the album's first 2020 single, “Run,” which earned Joji his highest-ever bow on the Billboard Hot 100 and his television debut on the Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon; and second single “Gimme Love” which Complex hailed as “a sticky pop anthem with haunting vocals.”

In the build-up to the release of Nectar, critics have already recognized Joji's immense growth as an artist from BALLADS 1 to now. A project Joji describes as having “a sense of urgency but calm”, Nectar occupies space where genres melt into each other, where downtempo R&B slides into invigorated pop, where indie alternative creeps into electronica; where emotions get tangled in an exploration of what every living being is innately drawn to - whether for pleasure or for survival - and the ends they'll go to reach it.

The album showcases the wide-ranging universe of Joji's collaborators, including New Zealand-based indie-pop darling BENEÉ, globetrotting producer-DJ-musician Diplo, Atlanta rapper mainstay Lil Yachty, Mexican-American R&B singer-songwriter Omar Apollo, Japanese lo-fi bed oom pop up-and-comer rei brown, and critically-acclaimed experimentalist Yves Tumor. Featuring standout production from Diplo, Bekon & The Donuts (Kendrick Lamar's DAMN., Rich Brian's The Sailor), Justin Parker (Lana Del Rey's “Born To Die”, Rihanna's “Stay”), Kenny Beats (Ed Sheeran's “Take Me Back To London” and DaBaby's “Toes”) and more, the album's thematic and sonic diversity remains unified by Joji's lyricism and tone. Nectar comes from the in-between place that Joji's work paces, characterized by its evocatively smeared quality.

- Nectar is Joji's highly anticipated second full length studio album featuring notable collaborators from producers Diplo, Bekon & The Donuts, and Kenny Beats, and feature verses from BENEÉ, Lil Yachty, rei brown, Yves Tumor and Omar Apollo.
- Over 750M+ streams on the album's first 3 singles, with “Run” earning Joji his first late night TV performance on Jimmy Fallon. The single debuted at #68 on the Billboard Hot 100, #57 on the Billboard Canadian Hot 100, #46 on the OCC Singles Chart (UK) and #39 on the ARIA Singles Chart (AU)
- RIAA-certified Gold debut album BALLADS 1 charted at #3 on Billboard's Top 200, making Joji the first Asian-born artist to top Billboard's R&B/Hip-Hop Albums chart
- Headlined a sold out 13-date 2019 North America tour & 6-date European Tour, with notable festival performances at Lowlands, Reading & Leeds Festivals, Westward Music Festival, Osheaga Music Festival, and Lollapalooza

The sons of JOHN FOGERTY have been working under the HEARTY HAR moniker for since 2012, honing their crafts as songwriters and studio hands into a fully formed enterprise. RADIO ASTRO shows off the brothers' wide-ranging musicality; diversity while capturing an identifiable core sound from sibling chemistry. Release Date: 2/19/21

★ North America Limited Edition
1,500 unit pressing on
Silver 140g Vinyl

1979 was MOTÖRHEAD year—the year of BOMBER. MOTÖRHEAD, the loudest band in the world, with the power and force of a hundred pneumatic drills they destroyed the nation over and over and no-one, repeat no-one, remained unaffected by them—everyone was torn limb from limb. The album BOMBER was ten times more powerful than their first album Motörhead, which was a killer in itself. The production was in the capable and experienced hands of one Jimmy Miller, whose previous successes had been with the likes of the Rolling Stones. He brought out the very best in the boys and the total effect was lethal. BOMBER is full of real skullcrackers, brain damaging to the nth degree and with the hit single “Bomber” and tracks like “Dead Men Tell No Tales” you can undoubtedly guess the destroying effect of the whole affair. That’s Motörhead; straight, basic, down to earth rock and roll, with absolutely no holds barred.

LAEL NEALE ACQUAINTED WITH NIGHT

SUB
POP

CD / DIGITAL

SP 1402

RELEASE DATE: FEBRUARY 19TH, 2021

NON-EXPORTABLE
OUTSIDE OF THE US.

It is the simple thing that is so hard to do. This is the paradox that musician Lael Neale has lived within throughout her development as an artist. It is the reason she became enthralled with poetry. Poems are a distillation. Lael says, "this challenge to winnow away what is unessential is the most maddening and, ultimately, rewarding part of writing a song."

Lael's new album Acquainted With Night is a testament to this poetic devotion. Stripped of any extraneous word or sound, the songs are lit by Lael's crystalline voice which lays on a lush bed of Omnichord. The collection touches on themes that have been thread into her work for years: isolation, mortality, yearning, and reaching ever toward the transcendent experience.

Lael grew up on a farm in rural Virginia, but for nearly 10 years called Los Angeles home. Those years were spent developing her songwriting and performing in venues across the city, but the right way to record the songs proved more elusive. She says, "Every time I reached the end of recording, I felt the songs had been stripped of their vitality in the process of layering drums, bass, guitar, violin, and organ over them. They felt weighed down."

In a moment of illumination the solution presented itself: do the simple thing. In early 2019, in the midst of major transition, she acquired a new instrument, the omnichord, and began recording a deluge of songs. Guy Blakeslee, who had been an advocate for years, set up a cassette recorder in her bedroom and provided empathic guidance, subtle yet affecting accompaniment and engineering prowess. Limited to only 4-tracks and first takes, Lael had to surrender some of her perfectionism to deliver the songs in their essence.

The first song she recorded was "For No One For Now," which calls to mind the agitated beat of driving fast on the freeway against the backdrop of the San Fernando Valley's bent palms. The song contrasts romantic idealizations with the banality of folding sheets and toasting bread. It highlights her oft-thwarted attempts to enjoy the day to day while her mind wanders off toward the dream, the ideal.

While Lael returned to her family farm in April 2020, Los Angeles is a player on this album, and "Every Star Shivers in the Dark" is an ode to the sprawling city, the outskirts of Eden. One can envision her walking from Dodgers Stadium to downtown, observing strangers and her own strangeness but determined to find communion with others. "Blue Vein" is her personal anthem, a Paul Revere piece that gallops through the town as a strident declamation. It is an amalgam of thoughts, concerns, and lessons as she nearly speaks the words, unmasked by flourishes, ensuring the meaning cuts through.

Normally a morning person, Lael recorded most of these songs in the darkening of the early evening, and so became Acquainted With Night.

Slow Corpse

Bite Your Tongue

12" Vinyl + Digital

DESCRIPTION

Bite Your Tongue is the second full-length release from Slow Corpse; the indie-rock power couple, Mitchell Winters & Brenton Clarke. At 14-tracks, 37-minutes, the album leaps effortlessly from R&B, to punk, bedroom pop, and hip-hop; showcasing a whole new sonic direction for the duo. Recorded in marathon, late-night sessions in cramped basements throughout the state of Oregon, Bite Your Tongue is a patchwork of ambivalence, hedonism, self-deprecation, confidence, heartbreak, and ultimately acceptance.

In 2019, the Slow Corpse live band went separate ways, opening up a whole new horizon for Winters & Clarke. No longer bound to writing songs for a standard, 5-piece band, they found themselves free to experiment outside of any one genre or style. While still paying homage to their roots in the Pacific Northwest indie scene, the sound is far more ambitious than their earlier work. Bite Your Tongue, finds Winter's and Clarke at their most vulnerable; teetering between heartbreak and bravado, in and out of relationships, and longing for understanding in the mire. This album is honest to its core, presenting a colorful mosaic of late nights, second guessing, and dancing through the sadness.

Winters and Clarke wrote and produced this album in their bedrooms during the Fall & Winter of 2019 and 2020. While continuing to remain fearlessly DIY, Slow Corpse enlisted outside help in the form of Cameron Spies (Radiation City, Night Heron) to assist in the tracking, production, and mixing. The album was mixed at The Trash Treasury recording studio in Portland, OR and mastered by Hobbess (The Shivas, Night Heron).

French Cassettes

Rolodex

12" Vinyl + Digital

DESCRIPTION

Growing up in the small valley city of Ripon, California, brothers' Scott and Thomas Huerta musical dreams found robust support. Their grandmother, a Mormon church organist who co-parented the young boys after their mother died, was always the first to hear Scott's songs. "She never said, 'If only your mother could hear this,'" Scott says with a laugh. "You just don't say that to a ten-year-old kid. But she was always positive. She'd walk by my room while I was playing something and say 'You've got your mother's fingers!'"

After an impromptu jam session with a classmate named Mackenzie Bunch (who loved The Strokes as much as Scott did) in 2006, the core of French Cassettes was born. The group was uncharacteristically ambitious for a high school rock band, and when Scott left for college 80 miles West in San Francisco, the band slowly came with him. They didn't make the journey alone. "All of our friends from our hometown moved here," Mackenzie remembers.

The band released the Summer Darling EP in 2011, and their debut full-length, Gold Youth, in 2013. They built their initial following playing literally any show they were offered. But excitement for the band's buoyant and tightly crafted sound grew quickly, and before long they were reliably packing clubs in the ever-changing adopted hometown of San Francisco. They were also playing MusicfestNW at the invitation of Modest Mouse's Isaac Brock, accepting invitations to SXSW in Austin, and sharing stages with bands like Of Montreal and Thao and the Get Down Stay Down.

Throughout their successes, San Francisco remained (and remains) French Cassettes' home base. Making music in one of the most expensive cities in the world hasn't been easy. Or, as Mackenzie Bunch puts it: "It's a fucking nightmare, for sure. EBT saved our lives for years, and thank god for rent control."

Mackenzie Bunch's alternately lush and angular guitar is a tone-setting centerpiece of Rolodex, from the unfurling, harp-like strums on opener "Dixie Lane" to the shimmering dance riffs on "Utah." For his part, though, Bunch credits the younger Huerta for the band's most unique qualities. "Scott's vocal melodies and harmonies, those are my favorite parts of these songs," he says. "They're intricate, high-level stuff with a lot of counter-melodies." This might be most evident on the playful and cascading "Isn't Anyone?," a song that showcases Huerta as an impassioned crooner, a trickster poet and a one-man choir. Even on the album's seemingly straightforward soul-pop closer, "So Good"—which finds everyone grooving in unison over a Rob Mills quasi-breakbeat—there are myriad twists and sonic buried treasures to discover.

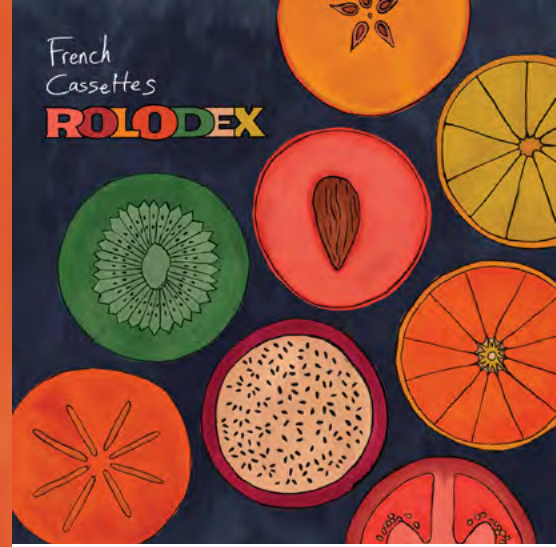

Whatever the source of French Cassettes' newfound growth and experimentation, it's a wonder to behold. This music doesn't sound like anything else in the known indie rock universe. It's music that takes a lot of repeated listens to fully unravel—and music that could very well make a person drop everything, gasp, and say "I love this song."

I Found The Sun Again

GENERAL INFORMATION

ARTIST: Steve Lukather
 TITLE: I Found The Sun Again
 HOMETOWN: San Fernando Valley, CA
 GENRE: Rock
 PARENTAL ADVISORY STICKERED: No

BIO

Over the course of five decades Steve Lukather has placed an indelible stamp on pop culture. Alongside his tenure as the only member of Toto to never take a hiatus from the band, he has performed on thousands of albums as a session musician. Amongst these musical contributions are some of the most successful, influential and enduring records of all-time including Michael Jackson's Thriller. Additionally, he released a memoir titled The Gospel According To Luke, which was a global best seller. He continues to be Toto's bandleader, a member of Ringo's All-Starr Band, and a solo artist performing with multiple ensembles, which include Nerve Bundle and Toxic Monkey.

Steve Lukather returns with a new solo album, 'I Found The Sun Again', set for release on February 26th, 2021 via The Players Club / Mascot Label Group. Additionally, Lukather's Toto band mate, Joseph Williams, will release his new solo album, 'Denizen Tenant', on the same date. Both artists have made significant contributions to the other's album. Earlier this year, the label presented "Run To Me" from Luke's forthcoming release 'I Found The Sun Again', which features guest appearances from Ringo Starr and Joseph Williams, and is available now on streaming services.

'I Found The Sun Again' was co-produced by Ken Freeman, who also both engineered and mixed the new album. The players featured on the album include many dignitaries from Lukather's career. Amongst these are drummer Greg Bissonette, keyboardist Jeff Babko, and bassists Jorgen Carlsson and John Pierce. Life-long friend and Toto band-mate David Paich performs piano and organ across the album, while Joseph Williams sang on multiple tracks alongside writing string and horn arrangements and tracking keys on the aforementioned "Run To Me." Both Paich and Williams co-wrote that specific composition, while friend and bandleader of the All-Starrs, Ringo Starr makes a special appearance on the recording.

Luke shares, "Never had so much fun recording in my life. Painless, fun and easy - and it just flowed." The album features five new original songs and three covers personally selected by Lukather. Those are Traffic's "Low Spark of High Heeled Boys," Joe Walsh's "Welcome To The Club," and Robin Trower's "Bridge of Sighs." Lukather offers in the liner notes, "ALL these tracks were cut LIVE - no clix - no fix - No rehearsal - one run thru - and record and the whole record was take two. I wanted to make as honest a record as I could in 2020 with 1970's inspiration, recording values, and techniques with a modern sound. A portion of the proceeds from this album will be directed to The Ed Asner Family Center for Autism.

DESCRIPTION:

Moonspell is approaching their 30th anniversary as a band more ambitiously and stronger than ever. Hermitage – the gothic metal pioneers' 13th studio album – was recorded, mixed and mastered by Jaime Gomez Arellano (Paradise Lost, Primordial, Ghost, Sólstafir, etc.) at the Orgone Studios in the UK. Building upon the album's dark, revolutionary and sensitive facets, it's an entertaining yet epic journey through the darkest days of human existence. Beautifully crafted tracks such as "The Greater Good" show us the modernity of the wolves in 2021, while "Common Prayers" embraces the MOONSPELL tradition of writing a dark, gothic metal song like no other band can. "All Or Nothing" brings back the ethereal and melodic sounds of MOONSPELL, served by a beautiful musical landscape, making it most likely one of the deepest and most sincerely heart-breaking tunes the Portuguese dark metal titans have ever written. But of course, they don't stray away from their metal roots, especially influenced by underground metal bands like Bathory on tracks like the bombastic and epic metal anthem "The Hermit Saints"! Hermitage is a revolutionary, wonderfully intuitive and epic journey by one of the most distinctive dark metal bands of all time, and a testament to what they've always loved the most: Honest, emotional metal that binds us even in the darkest times.

FUTURE DAYS

(Limited Edition Gold Vinyl)

Street Date: 2/26/21

Mute and Can are excited to announce the repress of Future Days on limited edition gold vinyl.

Can was founded in 1968 by Irmin Schmidt, Holger Czukay, Michael Karoli and Jaki Liebezeit who formed a group which would utilize and transcend all boundaries of ethnic, electronic experimental and modern classical music.

Future Days is the fifth studio album by Can. This is the last album to feature Japanese vocalist Damo Suzuki. On Future Days, the band explored the ambient direction they had introduced into their sound on the previous year's Ege Bamyasi creating a landmark in European electronic music. Future Days is fiercely progressive, calming, complex, intense, and beautiful all at once.

The band's powerful influence has never diminished, and their indelible mark is apparent in the bands who freely acknowledge their importance - from Portishead, James Murphy, New Order, Factory Floor, Public Image Ltd, Mogwai, Kanye West (who sampled 'Sing Swan Song') and Radiohead - as well as across other disciplines such as visual art and literature.

Joseph Williams

Denizen Tenant

GENERAL INFORMATION

ARTIST: Joseph Williams
TITLE: Denizen Tenant
HOMETOWN: Santa Monica, CA
GENRE: Rock
PARENTAL ADVISORY STICKERED: Yes

BIO

Williams began his career at the age of fifteen as a radio and television commercial singer, and achieved success as a television and film composer in the late 90's and early 2000's. He fronted Toto as a lead vocalist from 1986 to 1988, and was featured on the albums 'Fahrenheit' (1986) and 'The Seventh One' (1988), and also appeared on the 2006 live album, 'Falling in Between', sharing lead vocals with band mate Steve Lukather on "Bottom of Your Soul." In 2010 he returned to Toto, becoming front man and lead vocalist, a tenure that continues through today. He has released ten solo albums, and is an Emmy Award nominated film composer. His career as a session vocalist has placed his voice indelibly in pop culture through the dozens of performances in the medium of film, amongst which is his role as the adult Simba on The Lion King. Williams voice is featured on "Hakuna Matata" alongside "Can You Feel The Love Tonight."

Joseph Williams returns with his 11th solo album, 'Denizen Tenant', set for release on February 26th, 2021 via The Players Club / Mascot Label Group. Additionally, William's Toto band mate, Steve Lukather, will release his solo album, 'I Found The Sun Again', on the same date. Both artists have made significant contributions to the other's album.

'Denizen Tenant' features a dozen new recordings. Amongst these are a cover of The Beatles "If I Fell," which Williams cites as the one specific song that taught him about the power of harmonies and vocal arrangements. On Peter Gabriel's "Don't Give Up," a very special guest performance is featured in his daughter Hannah laying down a vocal track. Across the album, there is a consistent presence of performances by guitarists Steve Lukather and Mike Landau, alongside percussionist Lenny Castro. Williams reflects, "Mike Landau has been playing on my music since I was a teenager and he just knows what to do. They help move me to the next step in the writing process. Steve Lukather is like this as well."

The record is a part of the continual, on-going collaboration of the triumvirate of Lukather/Paich/Williams. Williams co-wrote "Liberty Man" with Paich while the keyboardist performed Hammond B3 on "Black Dahlia". "On this tune, like many others, we spent hours talking about history, religion, music, literature, movies etc," shares Williams. "Always leading us like excited kids to a subject or concept for the song. Then we start throwing out phrases, collecting and discarding ideas. Shaping and reshaping melodies along the way."

DESCRIPTION:

With North Star, Viking Metal pioneers EINHERJER release their eighth studio album on February 26, 2021, proving their status as the pioneers of blending Nordic Black Metal and Folk Metal genres once again. The album marks the band's return to Napalm Records after 25 years, and their release of the legendary Dragons Of The North album (1996). The Norwegian metal outfit remains musically true to themselves and reinforces their exceptional position. North Star was recorded in the wake of the Covid-19 pandemic at the in-house Studio Borealis, owned by founding member and mastermind Frode Glesnes. The raw production ties in seamlessly with its predecessor Norrone Spor and makes North Star probably the most powerful EINHERJER album to date! North Star is EINHERJER's musical mission towards something bigger - the search for guidance by the North Star in a constantly changing world that is searching for stability. The album's opening track, „The Blood And The Iron“, peppered with uncompromising double-bass thunderstorms, pulls the listener in from the very first second, while „Stars“ stomps through atmospheric soundscapes with dark chords. „West Coast Groove“ underlines EINHERJER's technical songwriting sophistication with finest guitar solos. Founded in Norway in 1993, the band has significantly influenced the way of Viking Metal in the following years with Dragons Of The North - 25 years later, EINHERJER are stronger than ever and are bursting with energy on North Star!

Mute and Can are excited to announce the repress of Delay on limited edition pink vinyl.

Can was founded in 1968 by Irmin Schmidt, Holger Czukay, Michael Karoli and Jaki Liebezeit who formed a group which would utilize and transcend all boundaries of ethnic, electronic experimental and modern classical music.

Cabaret Voltaire

Shadow of Funk

Street Date: 2/26/21

Mute are delighted to announce the release of Cabaret Voltaire's Shadow of Funk on limited edition curacao 12" vinyl and all digital platforms.

Cabaret Voltaire is Richard H. Kirk, who has also released countless acclaimed solo albums, including under other monikers such as Sandoz. He also invented bleep techno along the way via his groundbreaking work in Sweet Exorcist.

The industrial funk tracks on this EP were recorded in the sessions for the band's 2020 full length Shadow of Fear, the band's first studio album in 26 years. Shadow of Funk delves deeper into Cabaret Voltaire's arsenal of "vocal samples, harsh rhythms and threatening detonations" (Classic Pop).

Praise for Shadow of Fear:

"Shadow Of Fear is a brash and confident rebirth... Richard H. Kirk has chosen a good time to revive the Cabs' ominous industrial funk" UNCUT 8***

"Masterclass in shapeshifting disco... clinches these industrial shadow-dwellers' influence" MOJO 4/5

"Kirk is intent on pushing forward, ensuring that the hints of familiarity never come with an accompanying tang of comforting nostalgia." THE GUARDIAN 4/5

"A lot has changed in the past 26 years, but what hasn't altered is Cabaret Voltaire's knack for eerie but danceable post-punk." NME

WORLD CIRCUIT records

VARIOUS ARTISTS CUMBIA 1 & 2

LIMITED EDITION 2LP 180G
HEAVYWEIGHT COLOUR VINYL

Release Date: 02/26/21

Cumbia, the music and the dance synonymous with Colombia, has been around almost since the 17th century. Today, it's a badge of identity for Colombians everywhere, but is now also enjoying a global renaissance; filling dance floors and captivating a new generation of music fans.

Originally released by World Circuit as two separate albums - Cumbia Cumbia in 1989 and Cumbia Cumbia 2 in 1993 - this collection brings together some of the greatest recordings made by Colombia's legendary record label, Discos Fuentes, between 1954 and 1988.

Discos Fuentes was founded in Cartagena in 1934 by the visionary musician, arranger and producer, Antonio Lopez Fuentes. It was the first important record label in the country and grew into a company of immense significance for Colombian music, responsible for thousands of hits and scores of legendary singers and musicians over six decades. Fuentes hand-picked his musicians and singers then meticulously arranged, produced and recorded their music in-house.

This collection presents thirty of these three-minute-masterpieces, showcasing the gamut of styles that make up the distinctive and irresistible cumbia sound; a sound typified by a loping 2/4 gait and a pulsing rocksteady bassline, overlaid with heavy rural percussion, brass, accordion, clarinet, electric guitar and vocals. Disc 1 features a broad range of cumbia styles with recordings from 1960 through to 1988, whilst disc 2 digs further into the classics of the past focusing almost exclusively on the 1950s and 1960s.

Featuring cumbia's biggest hits from Rudolfo y su Tipica, Gabriel Romero, Sonoro Dinamita and Armando Hernandez, Cumbia Cumbia 1 & 2 is a flawless collection from the Golden Age of Cumbia.

"This album makes a case for cumbia being one of the great overlooked dance musics of the Caribbean"
-New York Times
