GREG DULLI › RANDOM DESIRE

FOR THE LAST 30 YEARS,

Greg Dulli has been the poet laureate of the bizarre whims and cruel tangents of desire. A foremost authority on the sell-your-soul rewards of carnal lust, the high voltage epiphanies of chemical enhancement, and the serotonin lows left in their wake. The front man of the Afghan Whigs has long been on a first-name basis with his demons, most of whom eventually relented and let him pour them a shot. Therein lies Random Desire, the first solo album under Dulli's own name, following canonized stints at the helm of The Afghan Whigs and The Twilight Singers. The title is a play on "random selection," which refers to a process that researchers use to pick participants for a study. When using this method, every single member of a population has an "equal chance of being chosen as a subject."

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Mississippi born slide guitar icon Sonny Landreth will be releasing his new studio album, 'Blacktop Run', on February 21st, 2020 via Proogue Records. 'Blacktop Run' follows his previous Grammy nominated album 'Recorded Live In Lafayette' (2017) and his back-to-back Blues Music Awards for Best Guitarist and Best Blues Album for 'Bound by the Blues' (2015). Now based in south Louisiana, his groundbreaking work has long mixed familiarity with experimentation, and his latest ten-song collection stretches from hard-edged electric instrumentals to wistful acoustic ballads. The project's range is the fruit of a renewed collaboration. Producer RS Field, who helmed Landreth's trio of breakout albums, joined the six-stringer and co-producer Tony Daigle to finish the record. "His brilliance and creative energy recharged us," Landreth said of reuniting with Field. "We came up with new and better ideas, and that's what we wanted," he added. "It couldn't have gone better."

A quartet of instrumentals highlights the expressive power of bassist David Ranson, drummer Brian Brignac and multi-talented keyboardist/songwriter Steve Conn. "Groovy Goddess" takes the listener into harder-edged jazz-rock territory, showcasing the slide guitar prowess that has twice landed Landreth on the cover of Guitar Player magazine. "Honestly, I think the purest form of music is improvised," the bandleader says. "When it flows, it's exhilarating. It just seems to come out of nowhere and connect your heart and soul to your fingertips."

After two Grammy nominations, multiple appearances at Clapton's Crossroads Guitar Festival and wide-ranging acclaim from fellow players and fans worldwide, Landreth is looking forward to playing the new material live. "It's all about telling the story," Landreth says, "and as long as I can find my way up that path, I'm all in." As the songwriter's narrator sings in the title number of Blacktop Run, "A new day is dawning and I have never felt so alive."

Having had a worldwide influence on both extreme metal and punk with their uncompromising, raw sound over the last 40 years, Discharge's political message is now relevant more than ever. Still performing globally in clubs and at festivals, the quintet are heralded as one of the godfathers of the political and anarcho punk scenes. Heavily championed by John Peel in their early years, they clocked up several chart singles and albums. They went on to influence metal bands like Metallica and Celtic Frost, as well as punk acts like Rancid.

LEE RANALDO & RAÜL REFREE

Names of North End Women

Street Date: 2/21/20

Lee Ranaldo & Raúl Refree have announced details of their new album, Names of North End Women, available February 21 on indie exclusive white vinyl, standard black vinyl, CD and digital platforms via Mute.

Ranaldo and Refree worked together on Ranaldo's last solo album, Electric Trim. Soon after, the pair returned to the studio to record the follow up and realized that the product would become what Ranaldo describes as "the beginning of a new partnership, a new configuration."

For Ranaldo – a cofounder of Sonic Youth and one of the greatest guitarists of his generation as ranked by both Rolling Stone and Spin – and Refree, an artist reinventing traditional flamenco guitar (his album with Rosalía continues to grow internationally), this is an album that features tracks with little or no guitar. Instead, they composed using marimba and vibraphone, samplers, a vintage 2-inch Studer tape recorder and a modified cassette machine Ranaldo had used in performances 25 years earlier. "We were mixing in all these strange analog sounds from old cassette tapes, dealing with tape hiss; using very new technology and very old technology and mixing them together," remembers Ranaldo. The words came in a process akin to the music, a collagist philosophy prevailing, as Ranaldo recomposed poems from his archives, wrote new pieces and incorporated lines sent by Jonathan Lethem, who'd helped pen the songs of Electric Trim. The result is an album alive with the electric crackle of experimentalism, yet satisfying as a collection of songs.

The album's title came from an experience Ranaldo had walking through a neighborhood in the North End of Winnipeg, Manitoba. All the streets were named after women: Lydia, Kate, Dagmar, Juno, etc – first names only, which implied something anonymous, or universal. Who these women are or were is not indicated, which lends their choice a certain mystery. Ranaldo jotted the names down, in poem format, and explains, "somehow it became an impetus for the lyrics in terms of the people that drift in and out of one's life, some significant, some fleeting."

"This album loosens the bonds from the idea of what songs can be, and both Raúl and I are excited to see where we can push it further," says Ranaldo.

MISTER ROGERS

from Omnivore Recordings

Mister Rogers' Neighborhood premiered on television over five decades ago. It's impossible to know how many children's (and adult's) lives were impacted by its positive and meaningful messages over the years. Its staying power has never lapsed.

Academy®- and Grammy®-winning director Morgan Neville's 2018 documentary, Won't You Be My Neighbor?, reawakened our love for Fred Rogers, and introduced a new generation to him. With the 2019 release of A Beautiful Day In The Neighborhood (starring Tom Hanks as Fred Rogers in a Golden Globe®-nominated performance), the beloved Mister Rogers and his neighborhood is once again front and center in the hearts, minds, and ears of everyone.

In addition to the release of It's Such A Good Feeling: The Best Of Mister Rogers and Johnny Costa – Plays Mister Rogers' Neighborhood Jazz, Omnivore Recordings also issued four classic collections of Mister Rogers' magic as digital-only releases in 2019. Due to popular demand—1992's Bedtime, You're Growing, You Are Special, and 1997's Coming And Going will once again see physical release. The four titles feature a combined 60 songs from the beloved broadcaster backed by long-time collaborator and pianist Johnny Costa, Carl McViker on bass, and percussionist Bobby Rawsthorne. Containing classics like "Won't You Be My Neighbor," "You Are Special," "It's Such A Good Feeling," and many more, these releases commanded high prices on the collector's market. Now, they're available again!

So, hop on the trolley for the Land Of Make Believe, because it really is such a good feeling.

BIFF BYFORD'S SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS DUE FEBRUARY 21ST 2020. Legendary Saxon frontman releases first solo album

Free, tough, uncompromising and supremely obdurate, the English North is everything you saw in Game of Thrones and more. It is the true heart of England, the region where its soul resides, and Biff Byford has earned the right to be considered its true heavy metal bard. The legendary Saxon frontman takes on not just tales and stories from his heart and soil, but also investigates the Middle Ages and Medieval history overall in his first ever solo album. Recorded by Jacky Lehmann at Brighton Electric Studios and mixed by Matts Valentin at Queens Street Studio in Stockholm, the album was produced by Biff Byford, vocals, with Fredrik Akesson on guitars, Christian Lundqvist on drums and Gus Macricostas on bass guitar. The album also features guest appearances from Phil Campbell, Nick Baker, Alex Holzwart and Dave Kemp.

In all senses a classic, masterfully-constructed old school British hard rock album School of Hard Knocks is every aural inch a Byford storybook highlighting his passionate interests. From the spoken word of "Inquisitor" leading into the metalation on the Spanish Inquisition of "The Pit and Pendulum" to the autobiographical, old-school 'wheels of steal' era thrust of the title track, you'll get to know Byford supremely well over the 11 tracks which comprise School of Hard Knocks. Add to this the adventurous, soulful rendition of Simon & Garfunkel's "Scarborough Fair" (a traditional ballad from the late Middle Ages), School of Hard Knocks is destined to be one of the biggest, most entertaining metal-plated surprises of 2020.

NEW ORIGINAL COVER PAINTING BY JUNO AWARD WINNING ARTIST JOHN RUMMEN

Black Night Is Falling - Live at The Rising Sun Celebrity Club finds John Lee Hooker in fine voice and backed by a driving band composed of John Garcia on guitar, Steve Jones on bass, and Larry "Wild Man" Martin on drums, with the end result being an exceptional example of Hooker at his best.

Highlights include impressive romps through some of Hooker's signature tunes: "One Bourbon, One Scotch, One Beer," which is delivered as a wonderfully paced barroom cautionary tale; the trance-inducing, hypnotic one-chord boogie of "Chicken And Gravy" where Hooker expresses his menu preferences in the home cooking department in this song about appetite and satisfaction (this title appears on no other John Lee Hooker recording); and his immortalized classic "Boom Boom". "Boom Boom" was released in 1962. That same year he went to Europe for the first time as part of the American Folk Blues Festival and was rapturously received. One of the most notable bands in the subsequent British Invasion was The Animals who had a hit with their rendition of "Boom Boom," which brought new attention to Hooker.

This is what the live Hooker sounded like with a band that wasn't afraid to push him a little. After the first song, Hooker says "I want to tell you one thing. This is the best blues club in town", and from its opening in 1975, and for more than a decade later, The Rising Sun Celebrity Jazz Club and it's renown owner Rouè-Doudou Boicel brought the best blues, jazz, Cajun, and salsa players from around the world to Montreal.

Sløtface return with their second album, Sorry for the late reply, on January 31st, 2020.

Following the success of the 2017 Spellemann (Norwegian Grammy) winning debut album, Try Not To Freak Out, 2019 has brought the comeback single 'Telepathetic', the break-up anthem 'Stuff', the pensive and powerful 'Sink or swim', and now, the raucous 'S.U.C.C.E.S.S.'! On first listen, the punk-fuelled banger appears as a fierce motivational anthem, but lyrically the track exposes a deeper theme explains front woman, Haley Shea, "sometimes as a woman, or as someone whose parents immigrated to a country, you just feel like you have to be better than everyone else to be good enough, because you have more to prove".

This year's sync, and massive shout out, in the international Netflix original series, Sex Education, has directed many eyes and ears towards Sløtface, gaining more traction than ever with 8.5 million YouTube views on the music video for 'Nancy Drew', with new fans discovering the band every day.

Stuart
Getz

PRAY FOR RAIN

For fans of Peter Gabriel, Seal, & Adult Contemporary!

A long history of musical talent and success paved the way for this young singer/songwriter from Massachusetts. His father Ramon Getzov co-wrote the 1951 smash hit "Please Mr. Sun" for the legendary Johnny Ray. Not to mention other outstanding compositions recorded by some other notable singers: Frank Sinatra, Sarah Vaughn, Billy Eckstine, the Ink Spots, Tommy Edwards... the list goes on! Getz knows what a great song is and how to write one... the apple landed right next to the tree!

Getz has churned out song after song of highly melodic, "Smart Pop", in the vein of AC favorites Sting, Peter Gabriel, and Seal. Songs such as "Written in Stone," "Kiss the Age of Innocence," and "Pray for Rain" ring with a real-world sensibility and lyrics that deal with everything from love, loss, and the state of the world.

"Songwriting is all about connecting with people," Getz says. "It's about getting them in the gut so they know they're not alone."

At the age of 12 he was recording songwriter demos at Chappell Music Publishing. By the time he was 22, Getz had signed a record deal (the roster also included John Paar & Alvin Lee) with a major label imprint that dissolved after six months. He recorded demos for Motown superwriter Lamont Dozier and has been a featured voice of ESPN radio and numerous other East Coast / National jingles.

Getz is joined on this record by bassist Dave LaRue (Dixie Dregs, Joe Satriani) and guitarist Jim Kimball (Toby Keith, Reba McEntire) and it is co-produced by Alan Douches (Glen Burtnik, George Benson, etc...).

IN THE PRESENCE OF WOLVES

Of Two Minds, Stages 1-2: The Ape and the Cage

For fans of Coheed and Cambria, Between the Buried and Me, The Mars Volta, and King Crimson!

Philadelphia-native progressive group IN THE PRESENCE OF WOLVES rattled the east coast metal scene with their 2015 full-length release, Thalassas, deftly mixing a bevy of classic progressive rock, modern prog-metal, experimental, post-hardcore and jazz rock influences that has since been unparalleled by any up-and-coming local artist of late.

IN THE PRESENCE OF WOLVES further improves upon their addictive sonic blend with their EP, Of Two Minds, Stages 1-2: The Ape and The Cage, a conceptual offering all its own. The EP's auditory assault reaches far beyond the confines of ITPOW's experimental predecessors—plainly inspired by the piercing vocal attacks, tasteful theatricality and frantic musical kaleidoscopes pioneered by artists like Rush, Coheed and Cambria, Queen, The Mars Volta and Between The Buried And Me—leaving the listener with something overtly inspired yet fresh and uncharted.

Of Two Minds, Stages 1-2: The Ape and The Cage is a two-in-one part EP in an eventual multi-release story that explores ITPOW's personal confrontations with mental illness, emotional struggle and the five stages of grief.

At the helm on Of Two Minds... was producer Kevin Antreassian of Backroom Studios, otherwise recognized as guitarist for kings of metallic chaos, Dillinger Escape Plan. The album was mastered by Alan Douches (Dillinger Escape Plan, Between The Buried And Me, Yes, etc...) at West West Side Music.

IN THE PRESENCE OF WOLVES have toured extensively, visiting cities from Portland, Maine to Chicago, Illinois, Atlanta, Georgia, and up into Canada.

LIVE IN NYC

For fans of Sex Pistols, Iggy Pop, and The Vibrators!

Legendary Punk Rock pioneers The Vibrators are ready to release an electrifying set recorded Live in NYC at the Bowery Electric during the bands 2019 North American Tour.

Headed up by founding member John 'Eddie' Edwards and long time collaborators Nigel Bennett (The Members) and Pete Honkamaki (UK Subs). The Vibrators have delivered a energetic, non auto tuned, non corrected guitars, set of pure Punk Rock as it was intended, live and raw. Including all of the fan favorites like "Baby Baby", "London Girls", "Automatic Lover", "Disco In Mosco" and plenty more.

With a career lasting over forty years, original vocalist/guitarist Ian "Knox" Carnochan, bassist Pat Collier, guitarist John Ellis (Peter Gabriel) and drummer Eddie originally formed The Vibrators in February 1976, and their first gig was supporting The Strangers at Hornsey Art College in North London. They supported The Sex Pistols at the 100 CLUB and were one of the bands playing at the now legendary 100 CLUB PUNK ROCK FESTIVAL.

Early in 1977 the band supported Iggy Pop (with David Bowie on keyboards) on a UK tour, and released the classic "Baby Baby" single, followed by their first album "Pure Mania" on Epic Records which spent five weeks in the UK Top 75, peaking at number 49. A second single from the album - but a live version - "London Girls", came out in the summer of 1977, followed by "Automatic Lover" (March 1978), which not only reached number 35 in the charts but also got the band on TOP OF THE POPS.

Live in NYC was mastered by mastering guru Alan Douches (High on Fire, Mastodon, The Misfits, etc...) and includes liner notes by "Vive Le Rock's" Eugene Butcher.

NO GOOD TO ANYONE

TODAY IS THE DAY Set To Release 11th Full-Length Album NO GOOD TO ANYONE Via BMG

BIO

Real Songwriting with magical instrumentation throughout the album. There's a sincerity and truth in the pain and heartache captured on NO GOOD TO ANYONE that you simply don't hear in most protocols constructed songs today. Pummeling and destructive, with grace and reckless precision, NO GOOD TO ANYONE tells all of it's secrets to the listener. In an extremely powerful and understated way, the emotions of love and hate are cast into destruction. You realize the story you've been living through the audio on this album is a tale of pushing past the pain and fighting for survival. In a world of false metal, TODAY IS THE DAY and Steve Austin stand out as groundbreaking musical innovators in a world of pretenders. Utilizing a wide vocal range of attacks, Steve's vocals on "No Good To Anyone" range anywhere from monster like percussion to hypnotic lullaby singing. All the while electric guitars come smashing down on you like building girders. The drum and bass rhythm section performs as a killing machine, but with taste and diversity in approach. One second they're ripping away at Double kick drum onslaughts and the next minute it's a Miles Davis rhythm interlude. Overall, this type of true real songwriting, not trying to fit in, is something that hasn't been heard since Hendrix.

For 27 Years, Steve Austin has been a force to be reckoned with on guitar. Self-taught, Steve developed his one of a kind unique playing style in the basement of his parents home. Conventional music never made sense to Steve. It was always the complex or open ended musics that attracted his attention and ear. In 1997, Steve was endorsed by Paul Reed Smith Guitar Company. That same year Mesa Boogie, one of the premier guitar amp companies in the world also endorsed Steve. For 22 Years, with a PRS guitar in hand, plugged into Mesa Boogie Mark III, Steve has inspired has and had a hand in the biggest bands in metal and hardcore today. Trailblazing tours with Napalm Death, The Melvins, Nailbomb, set the stage for what would become lifetime of creating some of the emotionally damaging music ever. Festival after festival from Hellfest to Roskilde, TODAY IS THE DAY has toured and played with some of the greatest artists of our time.

WITH THE RELEASE OF DIXIE HIGHWAY, THE OUTLAWS ONCE AGAIN BLAZE A ROUTE THAT IS AS FAMILIAR TO THE FAITHFUL AS IT IS UNFLINCHING IN ITS MISSION.

"I want the fans to see the band's growth, to recognize the quality of the music," says Paul. "It's focused on where we come from, where we're headed and how much fun we're still having on the ride." And from the state-of-the-art production to its throwback double-album gatefold vinyl, Dixie Highway remains a route whose legacy has a sound and spirit all its own. "We wrote and recorded this album to reinforce the notion that the Outlaws still matter," Henry says, "and that Southern Rock will always matter. It's a message we're proud to bring into the 21st century."

COAT OF ARMS SOUNDS STYLISTICALLY DIVERSE AND TECHNICALLY ACCOMPLISHED, YET THE NEW ALBUM IS TYPICAL OF WISHBONE ASH'S TRADITIONAL STRENGTHS – A BALANCING ACT THAT IS A CHALLENGE TO POWELL EVERY TIME:

“Following the countless songs that we have written throughout the history of Wishbone Ash, my own expectations are extremely high. On the one hand as a composer you try not to repeat yourself in your creative output but to come up with new ideas all the time, on the other you want to remain faithful to your style. Good songs need an inner conviction and the right inspiration. We had both when we started working on Coat Of Arms. You’d be right in describing the current line-up as the best in the history of Wishbone Ash. We all love our lives as musicians, the direct contact with our fans, travelling, the shows, our songs. It’s that commitment by everybody involved that you hear in every single note on Coat Of Arms.”

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Expanded reissue of Grammy®-winner's third solo release.
- Contains first CD/Digital release of his vinyl-only 2015 EP.
- 12 previously unissued bonus tracks.
- New liner notes from the artist, and photography from Timothy Duffy

Dom Flemons is known as "The American Songster."

The talented multi-instrumentalist was a member of the Grammy®-winning Carolina Chocolate Drops from their inception in 2005 through 2013, and has performed with artists including Guy Davis, Old Crow Medicine Show, and Taj Mahal.

His third solo album, Prospect Hill, was released in 2014 after Flemons spent "many days listening to vinyl records, 78s and CDs, discovering new genres of music in record stores all across the country and the world." That seminal release returns in an incredible, expanded edition.

Prospect Hill: The American Songster Omnibus is a 2-CD and Digital collection containing a three-part journey: the original album; the 2015 Record Store Day 9-track EP What Got Over (originally vinyl only, making its first appearance on CD/Digital); and a third section, The Drum Major Instinct, a set of 12 previously unissued instrumental tracks that "presents the vision of the Phoenix rising from the ashes, morphing into a butterfly, and seeing the world with a new set of eyes."

With extensive liner notes from Flemons and his wife, Vania Kinard, matched by extraordinary photography from Timothy Duffy (whose works are in the permanent collections of the National Gallery of Art, National Museum of African American History and Culture, the New Orleans Museum of Art, among others), this new collection truly showcases Flemons' artistry, talents, and dedication to deserving the moniker "The American Songster."

So, take the journey, whether it's your first time, or a return trip with new sights and sounds on Prospect Hill: The American Songster Omnibus.

SUMMARY

Introducing Winston Surfshirt, the Sydney-based six-piece quickly winning over fans and industry alike with their unique blend of funk, soul and hip-hop - the auditory equivalent of A Tribe Called Quest splitting spliffs with your parent's favourite band.

With a lauded and unique versatility in their sound, Winston Surfshirt's past performances range from sold out headline shows across national Australian tours, to festival billing at Splendour In The Grass, Spilt Milk, This That and Yours & Owls, support slots for Midnight Oil's comeback tour, underground warehouse gigs and block parties.

In 2017 the band released their debut single, 'Be About You' (#1 on Australian Spotify Viral Charts), followed by 'Ali D' and 'Same Same', all of which earned full rotation on triple j, as well as nods and airtime from international tastemakers in the US and UK including Jason Bentley (KCRW), Huw Stephens & Phil Taggart (BBC Radio 1), Lauren Laverne (BBC Radio 6), and Beats 1 host Zane Lowe, who labelled the group 'one of his breaking acts for 2017'. Sir Elton John has also professed his continual support for the group, airing all their singles on his Beats 1 program, Rocket Hour, as well as publicly labelling them his 'favourite band of the moment'.

In July Winston Surfshirt played triple j's Like A Version, slowing down and adding a chorus of vocals to 50 Cent's 21 Questions. September saw the group release their debut album, Sponge Cake - a 16-track melange of summer sounds blurring the lines between funk and hip-hop, bound together with airy vocals and bold brass. Sponge Cake premiered as feature album on triple j and debuted at #1 on the iTunes R&B/Soul Charts, #2 on Apple Music Best Of The Week and #6 on the iTunes Album Charts. Since release Sponge Cake has had lauded reviews from Australia's own, The Music, (4/5 stars), and German music site, Beatblogger, (4/5 stars), among a troop of others singing equal praise.

TESSA VIOLET

(BAD IDEAS)

Record Label: TAG Music

about

LAST YEAR, Tessa Violet released "Crush" - the first single from her forthcoming album "Bad Ideas." In the time since her last four singles have exploded, Tessa has gone from an acoustic-leaning solo artist, to an inspirational female fronting a shredding live band.

Although her recordings are competitive modern productions which perform well on playlists, her live show has a raw organic energy that is intoxicating. The sole songwriter on all but one of her releases, Tessa Violet is one to look out for. On October 25, her full length album "Bad Ideas" was released with outstanding support - including a billboard in Times Square on release day.
