SAXON PROUDLY DISPLAY THEIR “INSPIRATIONS” WITH NEW CLASSIC COVERS RELEASE

British Heavy Metal legends Saxon will deliver a full-roar-fun-down set of covers on March 19th 2021 (Silver Lining Music), with their latest album Inspirations, which drops a brand new 11 track release featuring some of the superb classic rock songs that influenced Biff Byford & the band.

From the crunching take on The Rolling Stones' 'Paint It Black' and the super-charged melodic romp of The Beatles' 'Paperback Writer' to their freeway mad take on Jimi Hendrix's 'Stone Free', Saxon show their love and appreciation with a series of faithful, raw and ready tributes. Recorded at Brockfield Hall near York, UK, with a firm eye on the old school way using Marshall cabs, Marshall amps and real drums, Saxon approach the likes of Motörhead's 'Bomber' (with added whistle!), AC/DC's 'Problem Child', Black Sabbath's 'Evil Woman' and a raucous Deep Purple's 'Speed King' with refreshingly warm, unfiltered, “vintage” sounding renditions.

Byford takes on some new vocal challenges, which he duly smashes on the likes of Thin Lizzy's 'The Rocker'. Saxon do a supreme job of entertaining both themselves and their audience throughout Inspirations. For even more proof of the validity behind that statement, wrap your ears around their sparkling take on Toto's 'Hold The Line' and consider Saxon's Inspirations a mission accomplished.

THE DANCE BETWEEN EXTREMES

EGO KILL TALENT

Without borders, we access the ultimate unity. This holds true for Ego Kill Talent. The São Paulo, Brazil quintet—Jonathan Dörr [vocals], Jean Dolabella [drums, guitar], Raphael Miranda [drums, bass], Niper Boaventura [guitar, bass], and Theo Van Der Loo [bass, guitar]—unite heavy music integrity and pop ambition, universal appeal and South American flavor, and tight songcraft and instrumental fluidity. Streamed over 20 million times as of 2020, awarded a coveted 5K! rating by international tastemaker KERRANG!, and handpicked as an opener for Foo Fighters, the band achieve a seamless balance on their second full-length forthcoming full length release.

"We like metal and pop," explains Van Der Loo. "We exist in both worlds, so we went further into these halves on the album. Some songs are heavier. Then, there are moments where the melodies and harmonies just make us cry. As a creature, the band has more of a personality. We went pretty deep and shared a lot of emotion: some good and some bad. We're being as true as possible to expose and connect to people through truth."

Ego Kill Talent's pursuit of truth dates back to their formation in 2014. A year later, they caught local radio play for the debut single "Sublimated" and landed on the bill for Lollapalooza Brazil. The track ignited streaming platforms worldwide and held a spot in the Top 5 of Spotify's Viral Top 50 in the UK, France, and Portugal as well as in Brazil. Their self-titled 2017 full-length debut made waves around the globe as they supported System of a Down, Shinedown and Within Temptation in Europe and graced the stages of Download Paris (which scored the perfect KERRANG! review), Rock in Rio, Santiago Gets Louder, Rock Am Ring, Rock Im Park, Graspop Metal Meeting, Download Madrid, Nova Rock, and more. In 2018 Foo Fighters fan club suggested to management that EKT should support their Brazilian tour. The band ended up performing with the rock icons and Queens of the Stone Age at five stadium shows across Brazil. During the tour the boys gave frontman Dave Grohl a gift with a letter to thank the Fools for having them on tour. "Dave hugged us and was like, 'We're drinking together tonight'," they recall. "It was amazing." Lead singer, Jonathan Dörr remembers, "It was truly inspiring. A couple months after the tour, we were invited by their team to record our next album at Studio 606."

Taking them up on the invitation, Ego Kill Talent tracked at this hallowed Los Angeles spot alongside producer Steve Evetts [Architects, Dillinger Escape Plan, The Used] throughout 2019. Musically and lyrically, it embodied the title.

"Life is the dance between extremes," Van Der Loo continues. "You need to learn how to dance amidst happiness and sadness, winning and losing, and the right and the left. You find peace when you understand you're destined to be in the middle."

SUMMARY

Australian songwriter Andrew Farriss' self-titled country music album may be his debut solo offering, but it has been years in the making. An industry stalwart with more than three decades of accolades under his belt, Andrew is most well-known for the plethora of hits he penned for his band INXS, but it is with the rhythm influenced track Come Midnight that he harks back to his early roots, keeping firm to his ethos of it always being about the music.

With INXS, Andrew shared success of more than 50,000,000 records sold, Grammy nominations and an induction into the ARIA Hall of Fame. Andrew is considered one of the world's best songwriters, composing iconic songs that have gone sound track generations.

Recorded between his home-studio and Nashville, his debut album embodies the old-school country vibe that Andrew envisioned. The country-rock-folk feel is fitting for a musician who has actually spent the past two and half decades living on the land, on a functioning cattle and grain farm in North-West New South Wales. The genre also suits the storytelling style that Andrew is embracing. This album is sure to become another part of his storied legacy with fans old and new.

CHAD VANGAALEN

WORLD'S MOST STRESSED OUT GARDENER

CD / LP / DIGITAL

SP 1408

RELEASE DATE: MARCH 19TH, 2021

NON-EXPORTABLE
OUTSIDE OF THE US.

2020 was a terrible year for gardening. It was terrible for peppers, it was terrible for tomatoes, it was terrible for the condition of the soul. But Chad VanGaalen somehow raised a garden all the same: carrots and sprouts and broccoli and a revivifying new album, all of them grown at home. He likes to eat directly off the plant, he says—"I get down on my knees and graze. It's nice to feel the vegetables in your face"—and the 13 songs on World's Most Stressed Out Gardener were harvested with just such a spirit: in their raw state, young and vegetal, at the very moment, they were made.

What that means is that the Calgary songwriter's new album is a psychedelic bumper crop. A collection of tunes that does away with obsessiveness, the anxiety of perfectionism, in favor of freshness and immediacy — capturing the world as it was met while recording alone at home over a period of years. "Don't overthink it," VanGaalen told himself again and again, despite the push/pull love/hate of his relationship with songwriting. "I'm always trying to get outside of the song—but then I realize I love the song."

This is a record that gleams with VanGaalen's musical signatures: found sound, reverb, polychromatic folk music that is by turns cartoonish and hyperphysical—like ultra magnified footage of a virus or a leaf. Apparently, the LP began life as a "pretty minimal" flute record. (There's only a vestige now, on "Flute Peace"—one of three instrumentals.) Later it became an electronic record "for a while" and finally, "right at the last second," it "turned into a pile of garbage." The good kind of garbage: glinting, useful, free. Music as compost—leaves, and branches ready to be re-ingested by the earth, turned into a flower.

Throughout these 40 minutes, VanGaalen floats from mania to solace to oblivion, searching for zen in all the wrong places. "Turn up the radio / I think we're dead," he sings on "Nothing Is Strange"; or, on the inside-out rocker "Nightmare Scenario": "You're stressed out when you should be feeling very well." The singer's mental landscape is rotting and redemptive, beautiful in spite of itself—and his soundscapes reflect this fertile decay. He has been influenced by his instrumental work on TV scores (Dream Corp's third season began this fall), but still "nothing can really replace the human voice," he admits. Like Arthur Russell or Syd Barrett, it's VanGaalen's vocals that shine a path through the swampland—from the cello-lashed "Water Brother" to "Starlight"'s krautrock pipe-dream.

These days, VanGaalen cherishes the privacy of the studio, the capacity to wander around, get distracted, and "move at the speed of life." Whereas once he would obsess over mic techniques, now he puts the microphone in the same place every time—trying to capture a song quickly, the idea at its heart. He'll act on his infatuations—for the flute, a squeaky clarinet, his basement's copper plumbing (remade into xylophones for "Samurai Sword")—and then he'll try to get out, "veering away from responsibility," before he overdoes his stay.

In the end, it's like gardening. You have to live with your horrible decision-making; the weather's going to fuck you if it wants to; and if you plant a hundred heads of broccoli, "now you gotta eat a hundred heads of broccoli—or watch them go to seed." But mostly VanGaalen just tries to be a deer: "I remember seeing some deer come out in the Okanagan Valley once," he says, "watching them wait for a sunbeam to hit a perfect bunch of grapes—and then eating them right out of the sunbeam. I'd recommend that."

EVANESCENCE

THE BITTER TRUTH

Two-time GRAMMY® Award-winning EVANESCENCE's The Bitter Truth is an epic, guitar-driven collection inspired by the (often-bitter) realities of the 21st Century and our world. The band's first studio album of original music in ten years, is a return-to-force - and one hell of a rock album. The already-released songs, WASTED ON YOU, THE GAME IS OVER, and USE MY VOICE have received early accolades from ELLE, BILLBOARD, SPIN, AMERICAN SONGWRITER, and MORE, and showcase the "FEROCIOUS AND HYMNAL" (THE NEW YORK TIMES) sound that made Evanescence a household name, as well as the drama and powerhouse vocals that made AMY LEE "ONE OF ROCK'S DEFINITIVE VOICES" (ROLLING STONE).

BIO

Mascot Records will release the 15th Anniversary limited-edition vinyl pressing of Volbeat's debut album, The Strength / The Sound / The Songs, on March 26th, 2021. A glow in the dark pressing will be available in stores and online.

The Strength/The Sound/The Songs was first released by Mascot Records in 2005, launching the band onto the greater European music stage with bone-shaking performances at Roskilde, Download and Pinkpop Festivals. The album, which includes their first single, a cover of Dusty Springfield's "I Only Wanna Be With You" and fan favorites "Pool of Booze, Booze, Booza" and "Soulweeper," crashed into the Danish charts and earned the band a slew of Danish Music Awards. The album has gone on to be certified 2 x Platinum in their home country, Gold in Germany and has generated over 180 million streams and (still) counting. These new limited vinyl variants celebrate both the legacy of the album and the future that will bring countless more performances of these songs to the world stage.

Volbeat emerged from Copenhagen in 2001. Since then, they've tirelessly clawed their way to rock's upper echelon with endless touring and a string of seven beloved full-length albums which have sold millions of copies and racked up numerous gold and platinum certifications across the globe and spawned eight #1s on the US Mainstream Rock airplay chart (the most ever by a European band). Their latest release, Rewind, Replay, Rebound: Live in Deutschland, chronicles the massive, sold out German leg of 2019's Rewind, Replay, Rebound World Tour, and features a new live version of "Pool Of Booze, Booze, Booza," which still graces the band's setlists to this day.

SEVENTH TREE followed the glitterball glamour of platinum-selling album, Supernature (2005), and is very much its sensual counterpoint. It shimmers and shines with the warmth of a hazy summer, an electric whirlpool of sound over which Alison's glistening voice soars.

Featuring the singles "A&E," "Happiness," "Caravan Girl" and "Clowns," the album was written by Alison Goldfrapp and Will Gregory and recorded at their own studio deep in the English countryside.

DESCRIPTION:

Like clockwork, Swedish stoner rockers GREENLEAF spread their concentrated sludgy energy to disciples of the genre by releasing Echoes From A Mass in 2021, the successor to their 2018 epic, Hear The Rivers. The album opener, "Tides", immediately draws the listener into a swirl of guitar driven soundscapes, while Arvid Hällagård's remarkable voice merges with hypnotizing background vocals, ceremonially inviting the listener into a heavy reverie. Floating hypnotic grooves set the stage for the compelling yet chilling "Needle In My Eye" — with its incisive, driving drums and roaring riffs, the record's third song accumulates piece by piece into a modern rock standout, taking the mind by storm. "Love Undone" breaks in with Tommi Holappa's acclaimed, blistering guitar riffs that will keep the listener moving to the mesmerizing, distinctive sonic layers of GREENLEAF. The bluesy mid-tempo track "Bury Me My Son" digs deep with its poignant lyrics and an extensive, grooving bass solo, reminiscent of their roots in the Dozer days. With "March On Higher Grounds", the Swedes deliver a dusting of desert-vibes, merging into a truly catchy refrain, while closer "What Have We Become" offers a hallucinatory realm of calmness, setting a bold exclamation mark at the album's epic end. Once again, GREENLEAF prove that they dare to think outside the box and deliver a heavy roller comprised of Sebastian Olsson's rumbling drumming performance, fuzzy guitars, Fröhlich's haunting bass lines, Arvid Hällagård's powerful yet ghoulish vocals and undeniable, heavy stoner, southern desert and blues vibes. Echoes From A Mass was recorded at Studio Gröndahl in October 2020 by former band member Karl Daniel Lidén, who also mixed and mastered the record at Tri-Lamb Studios. Lidén is recognized for his work with well-known acts such as Katatonia, Bloodbath, Lowrider and Crippled Black Phoenix, to name a few.

DESCRIPTION:

It is the beginning of a new era. Since early October 2020, smoke lays over Northampton near London. The machinery is well-oiled, and the plan excellent - MEMORIAM have recorded their fourth studio album! The speed the British machinery at work since their early days is enormous, and equally amazing. In 2016 the band inaugurated the public to their existence. Since those days the machines have never stood still. The British Death Lead Commando caused a big rumble shortly after the first rumors about where this journey would go. „The Hellfire Demos“ hit the worldwide scene with its old school Death Metal and left speechlessly torn open mouths which are still raving of the enthusiasm of this achievement today. When „For The Fallen“, the debut album, was unleashed on mankind via Nuclear Blast Records in 2017, the impression was even more powerful – Truly a historic act for metal history. But as mentioned, there is no standing still for MEMORIAM. Meanwhile emancipated from other bands, they write their own history. While the first album was heavy, oppressive and marked by grief, the second album „The Silent Vigil“ (2018) showed their merciless and aggressive side. The same applies to the third strike „Requiem For Mankind“, which stands unmistakably in the short but impressive tradition of all previous MEMORIAM efforts. After this concentrated Death Metal trilogy, all signs pointed to upheaval, as if the band wanted to completely break away from their old roots. They looked for a new home and signed a worldwide record deal with the upcoming label Reaper Entertainment Europe. When drummer Andy Whale had to take a forced break due to health reasons, Spike T Smith - a close friend of the band took over the job in the rhythm section. Nevertheless „To The End“ follows the tradition of its predecessors without leaving any doubt that one of the strongest albums of 2021 lurks here. Once again the grooves are monstrous, the riffs merciless, and the atmosphere oppressive, paralyzing, down right overwhelming, and Willett's aggressive vocals provide the proverbial icing on the cake. „To The End“ is a tremendous demonstration of power that impressively unites all elements of its predecessors, painting a frightening picture of war, death and destruction, where nothing remains at the end but ashes and the realization of a masterpiece. The grandiose songwriting and first-class recordings are rounded off by the production of Russ Russell (NAPALM DEATH, DIMMU BORGIR, AT THE GATES, AMORPHIS etc.) at Parlour Studios, which comes across as charming „Down to Earth“, but wonderfully differentiated, to give every detail on „To The End“ its deserved recognition.

VISIONIST

A CALL TO ARMS

Street Date: 3/26/21

Mute are excited to announce the release of Visionist's album A Call to Arms on CD and limited edition white vinyl on March 26. This follows the March 5th digital release.

Visionist's first release for Mute is a hypnotic elegy. A Call to Arms is Visionist's third album release and where previously the artist used his vocals as samples, we hear his singing voice in the form of song and lyric for the first time. Along with the addition of Visionist's vocals, the album is host to a varied list of collaborators including Haley Fohr (Circuit des Yeux) and Morgan Simpson (Black Midi).

For Visionist (aka Louis Carnell) each album is a chapter in a bigger storyline, and this new album builds upon 2015's debut, Safe [PAN] and its follow up, Value [2017 / Big Dada Recordings].

Carnell says, "With every project I want to test myself, so with this ethos, I expand the landscape of sound I have created over the years. On A Call to Arms I have furthered my musical direction in terms of collaboration in order to bring new layers of sonics, dynamics, energies and ideas."

WORLD CIRCUIT records

ALI FARKA TOURÉ

Red Album

180G VINYL

Release Date: 03/26/21

Remastered from the original tapes in 2004 for release on World Circuit, 2021 sees this classic album back on vinyl for the first time since its original 1984 release.

In 1982, the great Malian singer songwriter and guitarist Ali Farka Touré, then still in the early years of his recording career, teamed up with the brilliant percussionist Hama Sankare. Together, from a base in Ali's home village of Niafunké they travelled through Northern Mali, refining a collection of new songs. When they were ready to record they followed the River Niger as it wound down through the desert, to the capital city of Bamako.

In one afternoon, the great Radio Mali house engineer Boubacar Traore captured these eight superb performances on two microphones: two voices so close it was thought they were double tracked, one guitar (the distinctive Bulgarian acoustic model that Ali treasured) and Hama's calabash percussion making its first appearance on record. The album, which includes some of Touré's best loved songs, was released self-funded with no sleeve notes, just an enigmatic group photo on the cover. It became known as the Red Album due to the colour of its original sleeve.

Vinyl and cassette copies of Red began to circulate in West Africa, as well as making their way to Ry Cooder in the US and to specialist journalists and DJs in the UK and France. It was popular in Mali and the Tuareg refugee camps in Libya, where it became an influence on the musicians who came together as Tinariwen.

On a tip from Toumani Diabaté and with a copy of Red in hand, World Circuit's Anne Hunt travelled to Mali in the mid 80s to find Ali to invite him to record and tour. An appeal was broadcast over Radio Mali, and Ali, who by chance was visiting the capital Bamako, heard it. Thus began Ali's incredibly successful international career which took him around the world and resulted in the release of eight acclaimed albums including three GRAMMY winning collaborations, with Ry Cooder (Talking Timbuktu) and Toumani Diabaté (Ali & Toumani; In The Heart of the Moon).

"Timeless African blues classics." -The Guardian ★★★★★

"Hypnotic and irresistible. As fresh and deep as ever - and you can hear exactly why the likes of Ry Cooder and Taj Mahal got so excited." -THE TIMES ★★★★★

"The Sun sessions of Malian guitar music" -MOJO ★★★★★

Mute are delighted to announce the release of three Cabaret Voltaire EPs in 2021. Shadow of Funk will be available on limited edition curacao 12" vinyl and all digital platforms. Dekadrone and BN9Drone both will be available on limited edition white 12" vinyl and all digital platforms.

All three were recorded in the sessions for the band's 2020 full length Shadow of Fear, the band's first studio album in 26 years. Shadow of Funk's industrial tracks delve deeper into Cabaret Voltaire's arsenal of "vocal samples, harsh rhythms and threatening detonations" (Classic Pop). Dekadrone and BN9Drone are drone pieces of transformation and transportation. If you ever wondered what it would be like to meditate on the moon, well wonder no longer.

Praise for Shadow of Fear:

BANDCAMP: "...downright rejuvenating...Cabaret Voltaire sounds as spry as they've ever been..."

PITCHFORK: "...the ideal soundtrack to an era of doomscrolling and persistent creeping dread..."

UNCUT: "Shadow Of Fear is a brash and confident rebirth... Richard H. Kirk has chosen a good time to revive the Cabs' ominous industrial funk"

MOJO: "Masterclass in shapeshifting disco... clinches these industrial shadow-dwellers' influence"

Coming off their 2017 debut Wind Instrument, Kali Masi's sophomore record [laughs] is more than a collection of songs – it's a lifeline. Driving straight through the brick walls of often difficult subjects like emotional abuse, tense friendships and feeling comfortable in misery, the Chicago punks deliver poignant and empowering anthems of identity and self.

This isn't a record of nostalgia — it's a record of the present. It's a record for reflecting on where you've landed, how you got there and where to go next. [laughs] is an album urgently striving for self-awareness and presence, and for everybody listening doing the same. It's recognizing you are not what others make of you – only what you make of yourself.

[laughs] hits stores on CD March 26th, 2021.

SYML (Brian Fennell) quietly went from a basement songwriter and producer to a platinum-selling international success. Since SYML's debut in 2016, the Seattle-based artist has risen to prominence with an acclaimed body of work celebrated for its honest songwriting exploring themes of longing and loss, earning millions of streams across platforms.

Brian is a self-taught producer, programmer and engineer as well as guitarist, percussionist and classically trained pianist with deep roots in the Pacific Northwest. He has toured the globe performing his emotive, vulnerable and sometimes heartbreaking music to devout audiences.

Fennell wrote this EP, You Knew It Was Me (A side), choosing to paint in piano rather than using lyrics to describe his feelings. Says Fennell, "Words can be limiting, especially when the writer isn't speaking a language you understand. I wanted to make a piece of wordless music that still tells a story." The B-side of this piece includes songs never before released on vinyl in addition to a few fan favorites.

ABOUT TINA: THE TINA TURNER MUSICAL

From humble beginnings in Nutbush, Tennessee, to her transformation into the global Queen of Rock 'n' Roll, Tina Turner didn't just break the rules, she rewrote them. This new stage musical reveals the untold story of a woman who dared to defy the bounds of her age, gender and race.

One of the world's best-selling artists of all time, Tina Turner has won 12 Grammy Awards and her live shows have been seen by millions, with more concert tickets sold than any other solo performer in music history.
