PETER GABRIEL

RATED PG

REALWORLD

Rated PG is a collection of Peter Gabriel songs from the movies

Originally compiled for a limited edition picture disc LP release for Record Store Day 2019, due to fan demand the album is now being made more widely available with this black vinyl LP and digi-pack CD release.

LP is 180g vinyl, half-speed mastered at 33rpm and contains a hi-res download code.

Having always loved the combination of film and music (aged 17 he gave up a place at film school to pursue a career in music) Peter Gabriel's first opportunity to really marry these twin interests came when he was asked to create the music for Alan Parker's film 'Birdy' in 1985. Further film work, including his music for Martin Scorsese's 'The Last Temptation of Christ' (that became the album 'Passion') and the soundtrack to Philip Noyce's film 'Rabbit-Proof Fence' (released as the album 'Long Walk Home'), has continued to feed that interest.

Alongside those longer soundtrack commissions Peter Gabriel has also regularly contributed songs to a diverse range of movies and this compilation explores this other connection forged by Peter between his music and film. Rated PG is an opportunity to bring together in one place a selection of songs, be they written especially for, or used to notable effect in, movies.

DESCRIPTION:

It's evident within the initial seconds of BPMD's American Made, as the legendary Bobby Blitz (Overkill) chants the introductory lyrics to Ted Nugent's "Wang Dang Sweet Poontang" in his signature skyscraper-high howl, that he and his equally iconic bandmates — drummer Mike Portnoy (The Winery Dogs, Sons of Apollo), bassist Mark Menghi (Metal Allegiance) and guitarist Phil Demmel (Vio-lence, ex-Machine Head) — are here to have a damn good time. Featuring 10 unforgettable rock classics reimagined as heavy bangers, American Made is a party on wax. Tracks such as the raucous "Toys in the Attic" (Aerosmith) and rager-ready "Beer Drinkers & Hell Raisers" (ZZ Top) prove that BPMD not only manages to capture the essence of each original track on the album, but skillfully transforms each classic into an unforgettable metallic anthem for a new age. The seasoned quartet flex their musical muscles on renowned classics such as "Saturday Night Special" (Lynyrd Skynyrd), "We're an American Band" (Grand Funk Railroad) and "Walk Away" (James Gang), and introduce a whole new heavy generation to deeper cuts like blues standard "Evil" and "Never In My Life" (Mountain). Channeling nostalgia while maintaining a fresh attitude, American Made is a summer soundtrack for all ages!

Having the same line-up since album one, and with 4 European tours behind them, their new record is a wonderfully organic, spontaneous demonstration of six very close people who have spent some time playing music together. “All the members of this band are exceptional musicians. We all found each other because we were probably meant to.” is how Wignall describes it. Far from a typical hierarchy often found in bands, WARGIRL acts as a unit, a commune-like collaboration bringing out the best in everyone. “We appreciate and enjoy our differences and learn from them rather than fear them. In the end, it has to be fun, it has to move us in some way.” With pop chameleons like David Bowie as a their paradigms in terms of eclecticism, WARGIRL are bringing the love, peace and harmony vibe of the late sixties into today. “We don’t fight, we don’t argue, we make music together from a very true place and we do so with spontaneity and passion. We are dancing our asses off when we make these songs in the studio because we are always recording them almost completely live.” This time around, they built their songs around Samantha Parks remarkable, moving, broad vocal range and clever lyrics. “She’s such a great singer that we really wanted to feature that and pull more elements of soul and funk into the sound since she is so naturally comfortable with that.” (Sams father was Bull of “Bull and the Matadors” a well known funk artist in the 70s).

The songs on this album were mixed by genius engineer/producer Mark Neill best known for his producing of Black Keys “Brothers” and Dan Aurbach’s “Keep It Hid”. Wignall states, “He breathed a radical frantic breath of creativity and low end into the tracks, I’ve never heard mixes quite like this before”.

DESCRIPTION:

For the better part of the past five years, top-charting masked metal machine MUSHROOMHEAD have been crafting the epic follow up to their monumental 2014 full-length album, The Righteous & The Butterfly – waiting patiently to drop their next collection of anthems. MUSHROOMHEAD make their prodigious return with the new full-length oeuvre, A Wonderful Life, the Cleveland collective's eighth release of their benchmark career. The limited edition digipack version of the album clocks in at a whopping 70+ minutes with its four bonus tracks – leaving a total of 17 stellar compositions in its wake for fans to devour. The band shifts into high gear with introductory track “A Requiem For Tomorrow”, beginning with an ominous Latin choral piece and juxtaposing heavy industrial-inspired grooves with melodic synths. This sets the stage for stocky, chant-worthy arena anthems such as “Seen It All” and hair-raising, politically-inclined tracks like “The Heresy” and “Carry On”, both featuring the sinister multi-voice attack of new full-time vocalist Ms. Jackie and returning longtime vocalist J Mann, with an extra punch from fellow new vocalist Mr. Rauckhorst on the latter. Tracks like “What A Shame”, “I Am The One” and “Madness Within” will prove a treat for new and diehard MUSHROOMHEAD fans alike – providing the macabre inspiration followers have come to crave with a weighty dose of galloping drums and bone-rattling guitars, to boot. This is accented by the sharp production of band mastermind/drummer Skinny, as well as the mixing prowess of Matt Wallace (Faith No More, 3 Doors Down), also recognized for his work on the band's classic offering XIII. MUSHROOMHEAD attacks track after track with a refreshed focus, delivering a carefully-curated selection of certified future hits. A Wonderful Life re-cements the band's position as one of the most consistently impactful heavy bands of our generation.

Brian Wilson and Van Dyke Parks Orange Crate Art

"Orange Crate Art is one of the highlights of my life, working with Van Dyke again"
—Brian Wilson

In 1966, when Brian Wilson prepared the follow up to his masterpiece Pet Sounds, he employed the services of Mississippi born Van Dyke Parks as lyricist for The Beach Boys next album, SMiLE. As history would soon document, SMiLE became the most famous unreleased album in rock history, it's "completion" not seeing daylight until a Grammy®-award winning box set in 2012. SMiLE's original plan was to incorporate many different elements of American music in an avant-garde fashion, its musical format leaps and bounds ahead of anything that existed contemporaneously.

As SMiLE quickly grew in legendary terms, Brian and Van Dyke each went their separate musical ways, only to reunite briefly in 1972 for The Beach Boys classic "Sail On Sailor." So it was perhaps with great apprehension and excitement that these two musical giants should finally reunite in 1994 for some unfinished business. This time, however, the mission would be complete. The musical terrain familiar . . . a paeon to California . . . Omnivore Recordings is very proud to announce the release of the 25th anniversary special edition of Orange Crate Art by Brian Wilson and Van Dyke Parks.

By 1994, the roles had been reversed and it was Van Dyke who coaxed Brian into the studio to be the singer of nearly a dozen new songs he had written as a tribute to his home away from home. Parks writes in the liner notes, "Though my roots are somewhere else, far away, my limbs are here in Southern California . . . it's here . . . that I have struggled desperately for a sense of place . . . Orange Crate Art is a continuum of that which stood, freeze-frame, at the release of SMiLE.

Twenty-five years on, this album which sounds like nothing before or since, has been majestically re-mastered by multi-Grammy® award

SUMMARY

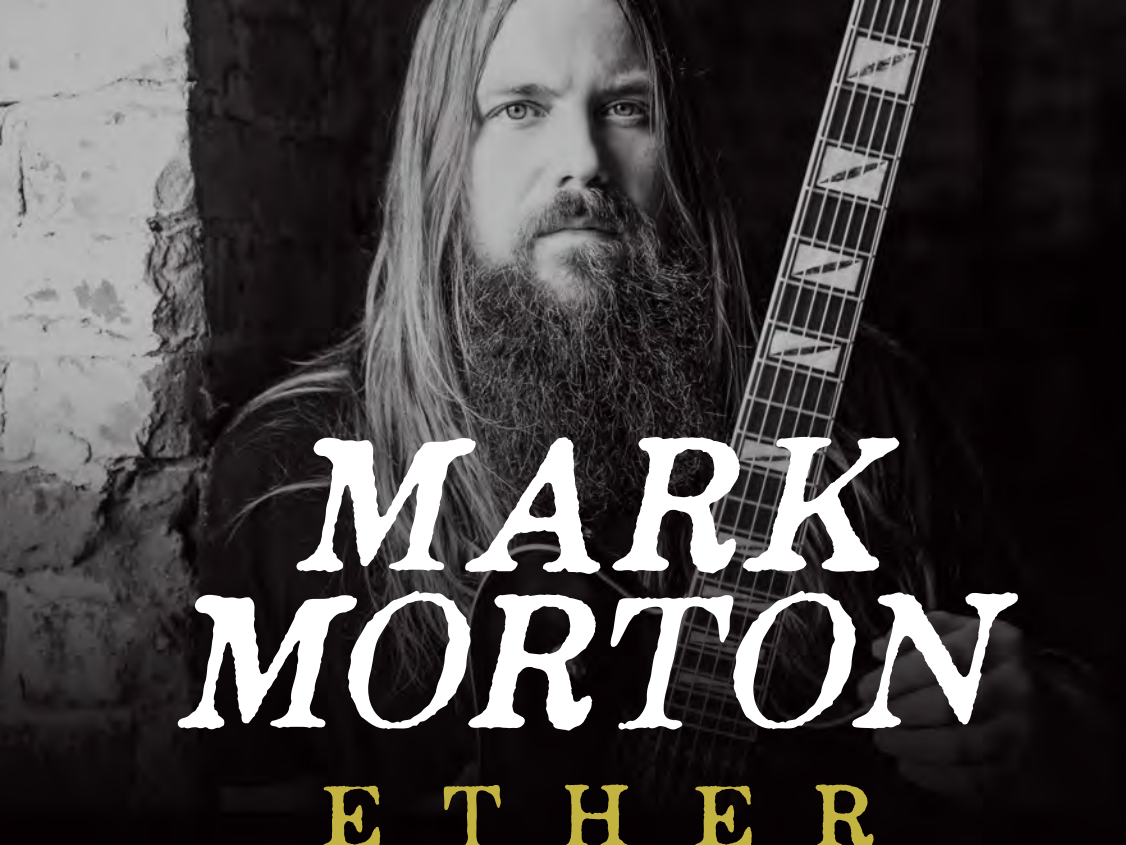

Kvelertak have made quite a name for themselves over the last ten years, since their self-titled debut. They've been included on Best Album charts from Rolling Stone and Stereogum, racked up over 50 million career streams and have received two Spellemannprisen Awards (Norway's GRAMMYS) for "Best Newcomer" and "Best Rock Band". They've toured with the likes of Metallica, Slayer, Anthrax, Ghost and more.

The band recently joined forces with Rise Records to release their fourth full-length album, Splid. They teamed up with producer Kurt Ballou (of Converge), and the result is nothing short of impressive. The thrashing riffs and sweeping chants are everything Kvelertak fans have come to expect and more.

DESCRIPTION:

German symphonic metal institution BEYOND THE BLACK emerges from their cocoon and reaches the next level with the upcoming album Hørizøns, to be released via Napalm Records on June 19th. Led by vocalist Jennifer Haben, the band unbolts their unequalled, differentiated spectra of symphonic and melodic rock spiced with sonorous melodious metal soundscapes in 13 manifold songs. The album kicks off with a heavy, yet atmospheric title track, spanning the range of intumescent soundscapes and Haben's crystal clear, striking vocals. Followed by their first single, "Misery", BEYOND THE BLACK prepares a powerful manifesto of self-confidence and draws its listeners into a wide melodic range between symphonic mellifluousness and uncompromising energetic metal fragments. Dark subliminal grooves coalesce with harmonizing guitar lines and form the prevailing nexus of "Human" and its unmistakably catchy chorus. Another facet rises with "You Are Not Alone", which is dominated by electronic influences as well as symphonic sounding violins. Hørizøns' atmospherically dark harshness creates the stylistic bow over the distinctive melodic rock meets pop sound in symbiosis with fragile yet strong fragments. The charismatic outfit persuades with a rousing, emotional clout and their strong, confident message off self-assertion. This is a multi-layered, metallic offer proving BEYOND THE BLACK's standing in the scene!

Recover

For the first time ever, Confide's sophomore album Recover will be available for a limited time on vinyl. Marking the 10th anniversary of Recover, the vinyl release will feature the hard hitting original track listing, including "Now Or Never," "The View From My Eyes," and "When Heaven Is Silent".

Recover is a quintessential metalcore album to its base, with a surprising burst of individuality throughout. Since its original release, the album has amassed well over a million streams, and supported a tour down the West coast as well as Japan; a testament to Confide's aggressive riffs, in-your-face attitude, and strong relationship with their fanbase. Own a piece of true metalcore history.

Strawberry Girls have been churning out guitar driven prog-rock for over 8 years now and each song can feel like a split personality disorder. At some points, melting & contagious rhythms reflect over a pool of mesmerizing riffs, then at other times you simply sit back and wade in the water of soothing melodies.

Tasmanian Glow, the fourth full length from Salinas, California's Strawberry Girls is poetic without having to say a word. The instrumental math-rock/prog-rock trio paints you pictures through endless aggressive grooves and dynamically lush leads that are as equally head banging as they are toe tapping. Elaborating on the progressive rock that made them a name stay on tours with CHON, mewwithoutYou and The Contortionist, Tasmanian Glow rips through 13 exuberant tracks without skipping a beat (unless they want to) and is poised to be a welcome edition to their already impeccable catalog.

The Shivas

You Know What to Do

12" Vinyl Re-issue

June 19th, 2020

DESCRIPTION

Originally released on the legendary K Records label, Tender Loving Empire re-issues this garage rock classic.

The Shivas' fourth LP will have you on your feet. With all of the fierce energy and body shakin' that The Shivas are known for, You Know What To Do encapsulates that, and much more. Recorded and mixed on tape by Calvin Johnson at Dub Narcotic Studio, this album is an apt follow-up to Whiteout, and features the title track of The Shivas "You Make Me Wanna Die" 7-inch released in April of 2014.

Amongst the 13 tracks of the album, you can glance the many faces of the The Shivas' musical style. From the blistering heat of tracks like "Old Lightning Rod" to the cool groove of "Ride On", the record also touches down into the slower tempos on tracks such as the deeply psychedelic "Let It Happen To You".

This is The Shivas record we have all been waiting for, so don't hesitate, you know what to do.

OVERVIEW

Music production technology in the 1980s opened doors to new sounds and experiments from producers around the world. By the mid-80s, Jamaican producers who built their name on the live studio sound with a drum and bass foundation, either adopted synthesised drums, full digital drum machines or dropped out of the game. Producer and melodica player Augustus Pablo was a prolific survivor from the 'classic' reggae era, released four new studio albums through Greensleeves between 1986 and 1990, demonstrating a new take on classic a sound as the new 'digital' era of reggae was taking hold.

Collected together here as Ancient Harmonies on two discs are the four albums; Rising Sun, Rockers Comes East, One Step Dub, and Blowing With The Wind. Recorded at Channel One, Tuff Gong, Dynamic, HC&F & Creative Sound with engineers including Scientist, Soldgie, Phillip Smart & Steven Stanley, these new sounds found an audience with the new age sound system culture in Europe.
