“Hunter Gatherer”

The early votes are in for Avatar in 2020!

Avatar are back and heavier than ever – Metal Injection

Quick hitting, sharp and choppy riffs with pendulum-swinging breakdowns – Loudwire

Heavy as all Hell and unflinching in its biting social commentary – Revolver Magazine

AVATAR returns in 2020 with a bold manifesto called Hunter Gatherer. The band's eighth album is an unflinchingly ruthless study of a clueless humankind's ever-increasing velocity into an uncertain future, furthering the reach of the band's always expanding dark roots. Songs like "A Secret Door," "Colossus," and "Age of Apes" are ready-made anthems for the modern age, each struggling for a collective meaning amidst the savagery of technology.

KRISTJAN JÄRVI | NORDIC ESCAPES

KRISTJAN JÄRVI (born in Tallinn, Estonia) is a famous and well respected artist in the world of classic music, most known for his provocative programming, style and taste. With NORDIC ESCAPES, he takes the first step toward the release of his self-composed and produced concept album, even though it has become rare for conductors to also take on the role as composer.

Järvi is a multi-genre artist, well known for collaborations from visual arts to film, working with well-respected modern classic artists such as Max Richter, initiator for the productions of TV series Babylon Berlin. He has collaborated with artists like Max Richter, Bastille, Bryce Dessner from The National, Hauschka, Pet Shop Boys –to name just a few. In the “traditional” classical context he is famous for being a great conductor, a bit crazy and polarizing, and non-conformist, free-thinker, pushing the boundaries.

Fun but shows integrity to the arts.

“Nordic Escapes” is a fine piece of contemporary music that transforms traditional music into the here and now, a unique and beautiful resonance journey from classic roots to uncharted territory. Building a bridge with a new point of view of what classical music can sound like today. Listeners who just want to enjoy beautiful sounds will love it as well as listeners who search for new musical directions.

It's pure music for now people!

Black + white and vividly complex, Pray For It is about breaking patterns of action and reaction. Resolute in their vision and unafraid to escape the cage, July Talk's path has never been through fitting in. Their music, viscerally, blisteringly hot, sliced right through the alternative and rock charts for multiple number one singles. Their churning and fiercely physical performances make spaces hiss and hum, spit and seethe in glorious, artful abandon.

Pray For It commits to the possibility of alternate endings in the sanctuary of humility and reckons with vulnerability as a superpower. In opening themselves up to the unknown, the uncomfortable and the unfamiliar, July Talk performs a radical sacrificial act, surrendering themselves to the higher powers - sacred, ecological or even intergalactic - as a way to begin again.

Pray For It Produced by: Burke Reid (Courtney Barnett, The Drones, Julia Jacklin), Graham Walsh (Holy Fuck, Metz), David Plowman (Brendan Canning, Young Clancy, Michael Rault) and Milan Sarkadi (Mute Choir, Said The Whale)

Mixed by: Rob Schnapf (Beck, Cat Power, Andy Shauf)

DESCRIPTION:

Recorded at London's Trident Studios in 1999, Moonspell's fourth album „The Butterfly Effect“, saw the band following more experimental paths after their impacting beginnings in gothic metal. Influenced by industrial elements of the Nineties, this full-length release of the Portuguese pioneers captures with down-tuned guitars, an electronic veil of ghostly synths and the concept of the scientific chaos theory, proclaiming that even the smallest events in life can lead to tremendous consequences. While the ominously calm „Can't Bee“ hypnotizes with electronic trip hop elements, Fernando Ribeiro's vocals rise into a storm of aggression in the chorus of „Lustmord“ or „Angelizer“ and transform the album into a contrastfull mix between different genres. And which loyal fan could ever forget seeing the striking music video for „The Butterfly FX“ on MTV back in the days? With their fourth album, the Portugal's masters of shadows embarked on experimental paths and delivered some of the most courageous and contrasting songs of their careers. In addition, the re-release includes two new remixes, a completely redesigned cover and artwork layout, as well as exclusive liners from the „Butterfly FX“ chapter of the band's official biography „Wolves Who Were Men“.

DESCRIPTION:

Dark Metal sensation LORD OF THE LOST returns with the newest epos in their classic ensemble album series: the long-awaited successor of Swan Songs II, Swan Songs III will be released via Napalm Records on August 7th, 2020. The album consists of new songs, all recorded with The Lord Of The Lost Ensemble and new versions of a hand-picked selection of LORD OF THE LOST classics. Deeply emotional storytelling melding with beautiful harmonies and Chris Harms' palpitation-inducing deep vocals make this album absolutely exceptional. The first notes of "A Splintered Mind" will trigger something deep inside the listener, with an outstanding melody and lyrics that will tug on their heartstrings. "A One Ton Heart" presents itself as a powerful ballad that makes the listener dive away with heavenly piano parts, underlined by delicate acoustic guitars and soft drum rhythms that take the listener onto a musical journey. "Dying on the Moon" features standout US-American singer/songwriter Joy Frost and is an ode to trusting one's soul's decision and believing in yourself. Chris' raspy vocals are in perfect harmony with Joy's ethereal voice, while a mix of guitar and piano parts make this single send shivers down your spine. A special highlight on the album marks the unique cooperation between LORD OF THE LOST and the 70+ choir Heaven Can Wait on „We Where Young" which underlines that music has the power to bring all generations together.

WASHED OUT

WITHIN AND WITHOUT

Washed Out is the operational alias for Atlanta, GA's Ernest Greene, and on July 12th, we at Sub Pop Records will be releasing the first Washed Out full-length, Within and Without. We are excited about this, to an almost unseemly degree. Greene recorded Within and Without with Ben Allen, who, among a great many other things, co-produced Animal Collective's Merriwether Post Pavillion, Gnarl's Barkley's St. Elsewhere and Deerhunter's Halcyon Digest. In 2009 Washed Out released two critically-acclaimed EPs; Life of Leisure (Mexican Summer) and High Times (Mirror Universe Tapes). Most recently, the Washed Out song "Feel It All Around," from Life of Leisure, was chosen as the theme song for the new and very funny IFC series Portlandia, which features Saturday Night Live cast member Fred Armisen and Sleater-Kinney/Sub Pop alum and current Wild Flag member Carrie Brownstein. Early confirmed press for Within and Without includes a "Breaking Out" feature in the June issue of SPIN, as well as NPR "Song of the Day" coverage for the album's lead track "Eyes Be Closed." In addition to performing at this year's Sasquatch! Music Festival in May, Washed Out will be touring in these United States in September of 2011.

Publicity: Album serviced to all music & lifestyle media.

Radio: Album will be worked to college, AAA and commercial specialty radio.

Online: MP3s will be available on the Sub Pop site. Banner advertising will be purchased on select sites.

WASHED OUT PARACOSM

SP1055 | CD/LP/CS/Digital | Release Date: August 13, 2013 | Non-exportable outside of the U.S.

The music recorded by Ernest Greene as Washed Out has been nothing if not dreamy, and on his second full-length, Paracosm, he takes the dreamlike, otherworldly atmospheres of his music a huge leap further.

The title refers to a phenomenon in which people create detailed imaginary worlds, and the idea of escaping is all over Paracosm's music and lyrics. Paracosm finds Greene reaching beyond the computers and synths that filled Washed Out's previous recordings, expanding his sonic palette to include over 50 different instruments, the most significant of which turned out to be old keyboards like the Mellotron, Chamberlin, Novatron, and Optigan.

"I've grown as a songwriter to the point where I want to have more involved arrangements, and that's really hard to do with sampling," says Greene. "These machines were kind of a happy medium: The sounds have a very worn, distressed quality about them, much like an old sample. But they also offer much more flexibility because they're playable."

Following two years on the road in support of the critically-acclaimed Within And Without, and the lauded Life Of Leisure EP (which can still be heard during Portlandia's opening credits), he and his wife, Blair (who plays in the Washed Out live band), relocated from the big-city hubbub of Atlanta to a house outside Athens, where Greene could shut out the real world in favor of an alternate universe of his own making. Listeners will be immediately struck by Paracosm's seamless melding of organic and synthetic sounds, and its lighter tone. Greene says: "I knew from the beginning I wanted this record to be optimistic, very much a daytime-sounding album. I think the last record felt more nocturnal in some ways. This one I just imagined being outside, surrounded by a beautiful, natural environment."

With its gorgeous execution and uplifting attitude, Paracosm is primed to be this year's summer record. And it promises to do what its name suggests: take listeners to a better world.

Paracosm was recorded at in Atlanta with Ben H. Allen (Animal Collective, Deerhunter, Gnarlz Barkley, Washed Out – Within and Without) at Maze Studios.

Retail: Within and Without, Washed Out's Sub Pop debut, has sold over 90,000 copies; the Life of Leisure EP has sold over 50,000. Aggressive co-op plan will be put into effect. Funds are available for listening posts, p&p and print ads. Posters & in-store play copies available.

September 14, 2018 marked one of the highlights of Kamelot's very successful career. The band around mastermind Thomas Youngblood, known for its high class collaborations, invited the creme de la creme of the symphonic metal scene to celebrate that evening in Tilburg. Featured guest musicians like Alissa White-Gluz (Arch Enemy), Charlotte Wessels (Delain), Elize Ryd (Amaranthe) and Lauren Hart (Once Human) – just to name a few – made this evening in Tilburg an unforgettable night to remember for every fan and musician in attendance. This concert setlist features Kamelotin prime shape – with a hand-picked mixture of Kamelot classics and live premieres, rounded off by stunning production and mixed and mastered by Sascha Paeth (Avantasia, Epica and more)! With I Am The Empire - Live From The 013, the band showcases the epic experience fans can expect from each of their legendary performances. Featuring a scorching guest appearance by Alissa White-Gluz, "March of Mephisto" begins with a haunting vocal harmony, beckoning the audience into a unified chant as the band leads them into a winding auditory fantasy. Another highlight of the set, "Sacrimony (Angel of Afterlife)" starts off with adventurous first notes and ominous vocal lines. The hit single makes the listener feel the palpable, non-stop energy to come. Featuring Alissa White-Gluz and introducing Elize Ryd, this auditory epic soars to new heights in its live incarnation. "Liar Liar (Wasted Monarchy)", originally featured on the 2015 Napalm Records debut Haven, marks the beginning of the triumphant end of I Am The Empire - Live From The 013. The Tilburg audience bellows with each eerie strike of the keys and the unrelenting, pummeling drum attacks.

KATHLEEN EDWARDS

TOTAL FREEDOM

In the late aughts, Kathleen Edwards' career was on the rise and her four studio albums had received critical acclaim; she garnered Polaris Prize nominations, a SOCAN Songwriting prize win, and several Juno nominations. But amid this success she stepped back from the music industry and started a coffee shop outside of Ottawa called Quitters, a successful small business she ran for over a decade.

Now, she's releasing album number five, just as a global pandemic has forced her to shut down the coffee shop and furlough the workers who became like family.

TOTAL FREEDOM, self-produced alongside Jim Bryson and GRAMMY winner Ian Fitchuk, opens a door to her view of life as it is now, with all its wonderful complications.

ROBBY KRIEGER

THE RITUAL BEGINS AT SUNDOWN

GENERAL INFORMATION

ARTIST: Robby Krieger
TITLE: The Ritual Begins At Sundown
HOMETOWN: Los Angeles, CA
GENRE: Jazz / Rock
PARENTAL ADVISORY STICKERED: No

BIO

The legendary guitarist and songwriter of The Doors, and Rock and Roll Hall of Fame inductee Robby Krieger returns for his 9th solo album, 'The Ritual Begins At Sundown'. This new album is Krieger's first solo album since 2010's Grammy nominated 'Singularity,' and once again he teamed up with his long time writing partner and co-producer Arthur Barrow. The album also features Frank Zappa alumni Jock Ellis (Trombone), Sal Marquez (Trumpet), Chad Wackerman (Drums) and Tommy Mars (Keys), as well as AeB Byrne (Flute), Vince Denham (Sax), Chuck Manning (Sax) and Joel Taylor (Drums). 'The Ritual Begins At Sundown' is a 10 song instrumental record that was recorded at his own Horse Latitudes Studio in LA. The album features 9 original tracks and one cover, the Frank Zappa song 'Chunga's Revenge,' which has a worthy place in the track listing with the incredible Zappa musicians on the album.

Hailed as a guitar hero by many, Krieger's influence spans generations. When he's not being joined on stage by the likes of Marilyn Manson or Lady Gaga, contemporary hands like Greta van Fleet have also declared their admiration. "Robby Krieger is one of the most fantastic guitarists ever," says Greta van Fleet's Sam Kiszka. "He's one of the most inventive and the most unpredictable guitarists I've ever heard. His sound was the heart of the Doors - eerie, weird, and jazzy, but also beautiful. He's one of the most underrated guitarists of all time. Great writer, too"

'The Ritual Begins At Sundown' is available everywhere on April 24th, 2020 through The Player's Club, a division of the Mascot Label Group.

Following on from the internationally acclaimed, prize-winning success of ÜBER-BACH, this is the second joint production by the pianist Sebastian Knauer and the composer Arash Safaian: BEETHOVEN VARIATIONS. The Piano Concerto that Arash Safaian has composed in variation form for Sebastian Knauer transports themes by Ludwig van Beethoven into the modern world of music to mark the 250th anniversary of his birth.

The Zürcher Kammerorchester (ZKO) and the Norwegian violinist Eldbjørg Hemsing recorded the “This Is Not Beethoven” cycle, comprising fifteen parts, at the orchestra’s home in Zurich. Sebastian Knauer, a stylistic expert in the field of the Viennese Classical School, has “a keen sense for tempi and style” (says German broadcaster RBB). This master of the nuanced touch has faced up to new challenges with this album. For Safaian the aim of his composition was to “break free of fixed formal boundaries and to rediscover the childish fascination that once so beguiled me and gave me my love of music. I wanted to be free of the narrow, theoretical discourse and dogma associated with academic music.”
