DAUGHTRY

Daughtry, one of the most visible and best selling rock bands of the 21st Century, has sold out concerts across the globe. Their debut album, the self-titled Daughtry, was the top-selling album of 2007, and was the fastest-selling rock debut album in Soundscan history. It was also nominated for 4 Grammy Awards and won 4 American Music Awards and 7 Billboard Music Awards, including Album of the Year. The subsequent albums, Leave This Town (2009), Break The Spell (2011), and Baptized (2013) have all gone Platinum, with Cage To Rattle (2018) certified Gold. In 2020, Daughtry released their first single from their forthcoming album, "World On Fire", which marked a return to their rock roots and the top of the charts. Their current single, "Heavy is The Crown", has been met with great enthusiasm, and is currently climbing the charts.

BUENA VISTA SOCIAL CLUB Buena Vista Social Club: 25th Anniversary Edition (2CD)

Release Date: 09/17/21

Contents:

- ★ The original album, Remastered by Bernie Grundman
- ★ 12 bonus tracks taken from the original 1996 session tapes
- ★ 64 page booklet including new liner notes, photos, song notes & lyrics

BUENA VISTA SOCIAL CLUB is both the name given to this extraordinary group of musicians and the album, recorded in just seven days in 1996 in Havana's 1950s vintage EGREM studios. It was clear from the atmosphere of the recording sessions that something very special was taking place. However, no one could have predicted that BUENA VISTA SOCIAL CLUB would become a worldwide phenomenon—awarded a Grammy in 1997 and, at 8 million copies, outselling any other record in the same genre.

The acclaim of the original album has elevated the artists (including Ibrahim Ferrer, Rubén González & Omara Portuondo) to superstar status, inspired an award-winning film by Wim Wenders, and has contributed to popularising Cuba's rich musical heritage. Produced by Ry Cooder for World Circuit, the timeless quality of the music and the sheer verve of the veteran performers have ensured that this will go down as one of the landmark recordings of the 20th century.

To celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the album's recording, producer Ry Cooder and World Circuit's Nick Gold have gone back to the original tapes and into the archive to produce these Deluxe Remaster packages, featuring previously unheard tracks from the original 1996 recording sessions, previously unseen photos, and new liner notes.

JOSÉ GONZÁLEZ

Local Valley

Street Date: 9/17/2021

Mute are excited to announce the release of José González's fourth studio album Local Valley, out September 17th on limited edition indie exclusive green vinyl, black vinyl, CD and digital formats.

Local Valley is a natural continuation of the styles that José has developed over the years both solo and with his band Junip. The album strikes a balance between stripped back arrangements—just José's intimate vocal and exquisite nylon string guitar work—and tracks driven by groovy drum machine loops and other percussive elements.

With songs sung in English, Spanish and Swedish, Local Valley invites us to look beyond our tribal instincts and join together in a more harmonic state. The album explores our shared humanity and the scientific-based existential questions we face together on our quest to understand ourselves and our place in the cosmos.

José González has tallied over 1 billion streams, 150+ licensed TV, film, and video game uses, and has a major presence at radio stations around the globe. This year, he has been selected by National Geographic to be an Earth Day Ambassador alongside Willie Nelson, My Morning Jacket, Yo Yo Ma, and more.

The album cover and physical packaging of Local Valley showcases the beautiful hand drawn artwork of Swedish designer Hannele Fernström.

José plans to tour with Rufus Wainwright in the Fall of 2021.

DESCRIPTION:

In the past few years, no emerging metal band has shaken up the international metal scene like ALIEN WEAPONRY – featuring 21-year-old Henry de Jong (drums), 19-year-old Lewis de Jong (guitars, vocals) and 21-year-old new bassist Tūranga Morgan-Edmonds. Since releasing their acclaimed Napalm Records debut Tū (2018), the New Zealanders' kinetic presence and unique sound – combining elements of thrash and groove metal with lyrics in the native indigenous language, te reo Māori – has attracted throngs of fans and media supporters across the globe. Having achieved past and present tours and festivals with the likes of Slayer, Black Label Society and Gojira, and being hailed the “future of metal” by esteemed magazine Metal Hammer (UK) and voted by Revolver Magazine (US) fans as “one of the bands most likely to break out in 2021”, ALIEN WEAPONRY are poised to dominate with the sheer ruthlessness and untempered passion of their fervid sophomore release, Tangaroa (2021). The album coalesces ALIEN WEAPONRY's growing maturation with an undisturbed songwriting process, resulting in their most complex, inspired, honest and informed material yet. As with their 2018 single “Kai Tangata”, which has amassed more than 10 million views on YouTube and claimed the number-one spot on SiriusXM Liquid Metal's “Devil's Dozen” for 13 consecutive weeks, much of Tangaroa is immersed in the historical stories and cultural heritage of the Māori people. In addition to lyrics written in the indigenous language, many tracks feature traditional instruments, called taonga puoro, providing the tracks their own warrior-like attitude. Rhythmic, dynamic album opener “Titokowaru” begins with determined rowing chants and depicts the tale of a famous war chief that challenged the colonial government in New Zealand and led a rebel army, backed by quick riffage and driving drums. Following standout “Hatupatu”, inspired by the harrowing, legendary tale of a de Jong ancestor facing off with a witch, is carried by frenzied guitars, spirited chanting and tribal-like percussion, while colossal, mosh-ready track “Tangaroa” details one of the album's most pressing themes – climate change and illegal fishing practices. Further prime examples of the band's innate ability to put rich stories to riotous sound include the profoundly raw stunner “Īhenga”, immense “Kai Whatu” and impassioned fan favorite “Ahi Kā”. While ALIEN WEAPONRY sourced inspiration from their culture and environmental surroundings while writing most of Tangaroa, the band also looked inward – drawing vision for other portions of the album from within. The album dives into some of their most effecting personal experiences, with English-language songs like the pensive “Unforgiving” about facing self-loathing and insecurity, and the swirling, charging “Buried Underground” detailing the aftershocks of drug abuse. Accented by personal touches like its entrancing album art originally conceptualized from drawings by Lewis de Jong, Tangaroa is an intuitive amalgamation of personal inspiration and cultural awareness with a focus on uplifting the voices of indigenous cultures – a unifying topic of global import. It's a massive next step for a band on the rise, encompassing all of the elements that make ALIEN WEAPONRY heavy metal's most authentic rising stars.

THE RONNIE WOOD BAND WITH MICK TAYLOR

MR. LUCK - A TRIBUTE TO JIMMY REED

LIVE AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL

A 'TAYLE' OF TWO SIDEMEN

'When self-taught guitarist Eddie Taylor imparted his skills onto his friend Jimmy Reed, he surely couldn't have imagined the effect this was to have on the Chicago blues scene. Backing up such luminaries as John Lee Hooker, he is best remembered for his work with his former student.

Sweet coincidence, then, that in 1974 another Taylor, Mick, would make way for Ronnie Wood in the Rolling Stones, paving the way for these two friends and celebrated guitarists to work on projects ever since. The culmination of this to date is surely Taylor's place in The Ronnie Wood Band at the Royal Albert Hall for 2013's Bluesfest, where they played the now-legendary set that would come to give birth to this recording.'

Trouble's debut album did great things for Metal and remains one of the darkest, thrashiest Doom albums to date. A lot of things can change in six years, especially when you're talking Metal and the dates are 1984 and 1990. The decade may have changed them, but not in a way that suggests decay or a decline in the quality of their resolve or their skill as musicians and performers. On the contrary, Trouble's 1990 self-titled release is arguably their most mature, boasting a fleshed out sound with unparalleled songwriting, a great production, and the time-crafted vocals of Eric Wagner which had improved major in the years since their previous efforts. All of this culminates in what is my mind the most "complete" thing Trouble ever created.

From the mid-paced chug of a killer opener in "At the End of My Daze" to the last notes of "All Is Forgiven", I can't see filler or anything resembling a weak link. The riffs here are some of the best ever written, by Trouble or anyone else; every song has a manically awesome main riff that demands a display of headbanging. Riffs are undoubtedly the point of focus here; they make the songs, and they're a timeless variety of great. Also, the interplay between guitarists Bruce Franklin and Rick Wartell is some of the best lead work you will ever hear in Metal.

Trouble basically reinvented themselves with this release, and while I think it was a fantastic rebirth, those who aren't so keen on the laid back stoner vibe they chose to adopt may not see it as a rejuvenation, but a step back (they did go from doom and gloom to collectively embracing their inner acid dropping free love hippie, after all). But the Metal remained fully intact!

And as I've said, I think this is Trouble at their best. This is originality and innovation at its best, it is supreme quality. A leader of bands paves the way and then steps aside to create something that will serve as an example of how to improve upon an established formula: that is, by doing it really damn well.

For fans of: Trouble, Black Sabbath, The Beatles, The Doors, Kyuss, Cathedral, Pentagram

DESMOND DEKKER

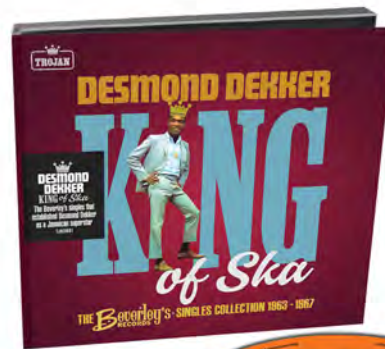

The King of Ska: The Beverley's Records Singles Collection, 1963-1967

Release Date: 9/17/21

In 1963, a 21-year-old welder with dreams of becoming a full-time singer-songwriter, auditioned for one of Jamaica's new elite record producers, Leslie Kong, owner of the recently launched Beverley's Records label. After performing a number of original compositions, a deal was secured and within weeks, Desmond Adolphus Dacres saw his name in print as "DESMOND DEKKER" on the labels of what would prove to be the first of his catalogue of 7" singles.

The record, which coupled two of his own songs, "Honour Your Mother And Father" and "Madgie," became an instant best-seller and heralded the beginning of a long and immensely successful run of singles by Dekker, both as a solo artist and later, as lead singer for The Aces.

To mark what would have been Desmond's 80th birthday on 16th July 2021, this 2xCD set showcases Dekker's first twenty singles for Kong's Beverley's labels which established him as a true Jamaican superstar. The 2xCD set is presented in a fold out digipack, along with a 12 page booklet with fascinating sleeve notes written by journalist Winston Smith.

DESCRIPTION:

Renowned songwriter, Grammy Award winner and three-time Guitar World "Guitarist of the Year"/ recent "Guitarist of the Decade" title recipient Mark Tremonti is no stranger to storytelling. Throughout his time with massive bands like Alter Bridge and Creed – and most-recently his solo band, TREMONTI – he has never strayed from his love of writing memorable songs with strong inspiration at their core. With their upcoming fifth album, Marching In Time, the band looks to build upon this trend while exploring their love for searing heavy music, drawing from current events throughout the last year to form the basis of each colossal track. While TREMONTI's previous album – the critically acclaimed, worldwide-charting A Dying Machine (2018) – was an overall concept album with darker sentiments and story, Marching In Time carries a different vibe altogether. Featuring his signature execution of blistering, laser-precision guitar work and a reverberating, rhythmic metallic attack, the album emerges as an upbeat offering inviting the listener on 12 individual journeys. From the driving drum beat of opener "A World Away" to the epic closer "Marching In Time," the new album is a reflective look at the world around us today. The band's unmatched musicianship permeates through the album – showcased on tracks like "Thrown Further," "In One Piece" and the thought-provoking "Would You Kill" – while the band displays their softer side on the pensive tracks "The Last One Of Us" and "Not Afraid To Lose." The title track, "Marching In Time," hits a personal note, telling the story of a father having a child during a global pandemic and how he prepares for life during that time – something Mark Tremonti recently experienced in his own life. Standout debut single, "If Not For You," displays the evolution of the TREMONTI sound in 2021 and is guaranteed to become a favorite. Marching In Time is the record that will solidify TREMONTI's place in the hearts of longtime fans as well as add masses to the band's legion of followers. The album is an exceptional auditory journey of memorable riffs, intriguing lyrics and the unmistakable sound that continues to earn the band prominent global acclaim. Marching In Time by TREMONTI was produced longtime friend and collaborator Michael "Elvis" Baskette, the producer Mark has worked with exclusively since 2007.

The Spoonful

Songbook

BMG

CD RELEASE DATE: SEPTEMBER 24, 2021

BIO

The Renew Records / BMG release, JOHN SEBASTIAN AND ARLEN ROTH EXPLORE THE SPOONFUL SONGBOOK, features interpretive versions of THE LOVIN' SPOONFUL's most important songs. The Lovin' Spoonful did like nobody before or since, putting their first seven singles into the Top-ten. This was unprecedented and utterly unthinkable at the height of Beatlemania. Sebastian and Roth recorded at producer Chris Andersen's Neveva Studio in Woodstock, NY with contributing musicians: the MonaLisa Twins, Maria Muldaur, Geoff Muldaur, Lexie Roth, Ira Coleman and Eric Parker.

One of the Spoonful's biggest fans, Arlen Roth, the guitar maestro known for his studio and touring work with such artists as Simon & Garfunkel and John Prine, popped the question to Sebastian: Why not make an album together? In the tradition of Roth's acclaimed reimagining of the songs of Simon & Garfunkel (Subway Walls & Tenement Halls) and the Rolling Stones (Paint It Black: Acoustic Stones), John Sebastian and Arlen Roth Explore the Spoonful Songbook was born. Sebastian had never considered doing re-recordings of his Spoonful classics until Roth approached him: "I'd left the material alone for 50 years." But Roth's deep artistry and exceptional knowledge and love of the guitar style of Spoonful guitarist Zal Yanovsky changed Sebastian's mind.

Roth praises Sebastian stating, "oh man, what is there that this man can't write? He's a songwriting giant! One of the best of all-time. The pleasure of working with the man you're actually paying tribute to is beyond words."

QUOTES

"The group racked up seven Top 10 hits from '65 to '66, as well as three albums and two soundtracks, for the then-budding auteurs Woody Allen (What's Up Tiger Lily?) and Francis Ford Coppola (You're a Big Boy Now). The Lovin' Spoonful's "good time music" has transcended their relatively short run, and songs like "Do You Believe in Magic?" "You Didn't Have to Be So Nice," and "Daydream" can still inspire a smile that, in the words of Sebastian himself, "won't wipe off your face no matter how hard you try!" -ROLLING STONE

"Mr. Sebastian's talents are so formidable that he makes it all work wonderfully well. Those talents begin with the songs themselves, many of which are so popular that large portions of the crowd sang along unprompted. As a singer, Mr. Sebastian has a delightfully easy baritone and he phrases with tricky yet not self-conscious individuality. -THE NEW YORK TIMES

SONGS OF LOSS AND SEPARATION

Songs Of Loss and Separation, the sprawling second album from TIMES OF GRACE is insistent in its bluesiness, bleeding distortion and emotion, weaving effortlessly between pensive, heavy, midtempo rock riffs and atmosphere. The band's sophomore effort and first since 2011 channels a haunting romanticism and deep spiritual yearning that collide in beautiful melancholy. The vocal interplay of Adam Dutkiewicz and Jesse Leach makes for a rich, dense, and enthralling concoction, powering through various trips through dark nights of the soul and mind-expanding excursions into the wild.

Hailed as "one of the greatest singers and songwriters alive today" by collaborator P!NK, Wrabel prepares to step into the spotlight with his long-awaited and anticipated debut album these words are all for you (Big Gay Records/Netwerk). On the way to creating his first full-length effort, Wrabel has delivered hit songs such as "11 Blocks"; collaborated with leading EDM artists like Kygo and Marshmello; released a live album (2019's one nite only); and has written for the likes of P!NK ("90 Days"), Kesha ("Woman," "Here Comes the Change"), and Backstreet Boys ("Don't Go Breaking My Heart"). His "knife-to-the-heart" (Idolator) songwriting has led Billboard to confidently state that he is "ready for his breakthrough," and he's been praised as "one of Hollywood's finest songwriters for a decade" by American Songwriter. He also earned a 2018 GLAAD Media Award nomination, was named to the 2017 OUT100, and joined P!NK on her 2019 European stadium tour.

these words are all for you marks the glorious culmination of all Wrabel has accomplished thus far in his extraordinary and ever-evolving career. He delivers deeply personal, introspective lyrics with a warm vocal presence as he explores themes of love in all of its forms: shattered love and self-love, compassion and redemption. With the release of these words are all for you, Wrabel hopes that his personal catharsis might ultimately provide solace to others.

"My favorite songs are the ones that have quite literally saved my life, like 'This Woman's Work' by Kate Bush—they're the songs that have made me feel like they were written for me, and expressed the things I didn't even know how to put into words," says Wrabel. "With everything I create, and especially with this record, there's always the hope that it will help people to feel less alone. So while I don't believe it's an artist's job to create something for everyone, I do hope these songs find their way to whoever needs to hear them."

Originally formed as Acheron in 1988 by vocalist Simon Dower & then guitarist David Abbott, the band changed their name in the early 90's due to a clash with an international act of the same name. Tim Aldridge joined the band in 1989 and quickly became the main writer of music for the band, while Dower handled the grotesque lyrics. Abramelin was a powerful, driving force in the 90's, playing alongside a host of well-known Aussie acts from various genres, as well as international metal giants like Morbid Angel, Cradle of Filth, Cannibal Corpse, Carcass & Paradise Lost, just to name a few. Although at the top of their game and in high demand, the band decided to take a break in 2003... one that would last 14 years! Fast forward to 2017, Abramelin are back and stronger than ever! Dower and Aldridge are still on board with ex-Abramelin guitarist & music contributor Rob "Wog" Mollica (Earth) now picking up the bass; blisteringly fast guitarist Matt Wilcock (Ackercocke), who played with Abramelin on their Deadspeak tour in 2002 / 2003, is back; and last but not least, Australia's #1 metal drummer, David Hayley (Psycoptic) is on board ripping out the blast beats. Once again in hot demand and already selling out shows weeks in advance, Abramelin have been touring nationally in Australia on their own as well as alongside international artists such as Napalm Death, Dark Funeral and Immolation. Petrichor presents the worldwide re-issue on CD of Abramelin's "Never Enough Snuff". A brutal and extremely violent album even by Death Metal standards, the album was recorded at various studios in Melbourne and then sent off to Unisound in Sweden to be mixed and mastered by the master of metal, Dan Swanö.

For fans of: Cannibal Corpse, Suffocation, Immolation, Deicide, Bloodbath

SUNSET AND CLARK

For fans of Van Halen, Bon Jovi, Def Leppard, Motley Crue and Arena Rock!

Meet BROTHERS-IN-ARMS, the brainchild of guitarist/composer Jack Frost, who along with several recruited iconic rock brothers, has made it his mission to prove rock music will never die. The guys unified to take a stand against the doubters and cynics who have claimed that it's simply not possible to resurrect this celebrated music in which so many lasting and fond memories were built around. Banding together, Jack & the Brothers forged ahead with one main goal: To make quality music that would both represent and immortalize the days of the sold-out legendary rock venues, to show the world that rock is not just a thing of the past.

Featuring: Jack Frost (Savatage, Lizzy Borden, Seven Witches, Belladonna (Anthrax), Bronx Casket Company, Jean Beauvoir, Aldo Nova), Karl Wilcox (Diamond Head), Alex Jansen (session bass for Hardline), Charlie Calv (Angel, Shotgun Symphony, Bronx Casket Company)

Special Guests: Dave Amato (REO Speedwagon, Ted Nugent), Mick Mahan (Pat Benatar)

All-Star Vocalists, Keith St John (Kingdom Come, Montrose, Lynch Mob, Burning Rain), Andrew Freeman (Last in Line, Lynch Mob, Hurricane), Paul Shortino (Rough Cutt, Quiet Riot, King Kobra), Steve Overland (FM, Overland), Nick Walsh (Slik Toxik), Jesse Damon (Silent Rage), Todd Poole (Roxy Blue, Saliva)

Mixed by Jeff Kalemba at Canyon Music, NJ

While Jack may have initially instigated this idea, the other musicians involved with this project were immediately on board & ready to go, right from Day One. So sit back, crank it up, and enjoy!

THUNDER

All The Right Noises (Expanded 2CD/DVD)

Release Date: 9/24/21

- Expanded version of the latest THUNDER album ALL THE RIGHT NOISES
- Includes DVD with TV Special, Promo Videos plus Bonus Audio

British hard-rock heroes, THUNDER, released their 13th studio album ALL THE RIGHT NOISES on March 12th 2020. The album is a return to the full-throttle sound of THUNDER that has seen them create a hugely successful 30+ year career at the forefront of British rock, all built around the lifelong friendship of vocalist extraordinaire Danny Bowes and songwriting genius and guitarist Luke Morley. ALL THE RIGHT NOISES is an intense confection of illicit charms that reasserts their authority as the number one band in the land. Recorded in the months leading up to the first Covid-19 lockdown, it was originally due for release in September 2020. Strange to reflect then on how much of the new material appears to address the challenging new world we now inhabit. On the album, Luke says “ All the songs were written and recorded pre-Covid. But it is interesting how if you look at some of the tracks through the prism of Covid they still make a lot of sense.” The volcanic lead single from the album, “Last One Out Turn Off The Lights” could easily be mistaken for world-ending lockdown rage. But, says Luke, “That was directly about Brexit, but you could apply it to everything else.” The track is indicative of both the ferocity and message of the album as a whole, with subjects tackled including depression, mental health, and diversity. ALL THE RIGHT NOISES follows on from 2019’s stripped back and reimagined album, Please Remain Seated which continued their consecutive Top 10 UK Album Chart run since their ecstatically received comeback six years ago. It is another chapter in the band’s incredibly successful history that has seen them create a succession of some of the most highly-regarded rock albums of the past 30 years. The key to their renown: brilliantly conceived top-drawer material. THUNDER is the last of the true British rock giants.
