Description:

CLASSIC DON RICKLES TV SPECIALS, UNCUT!

Don Rickles is one of comedy's most famous funnymen. For over 55 years he has appeared in top showrooms and concert halls throughout the world. He is regarded among the world's top entertainers. Rickles earned the nicknames "The Merchant of Venom" and "Mr. Warmth" (coined affectionately by Johnny Carson) for his style of humor in which he pokes fun at people of all ethnicities and walks of life. Rickles' style is never mean-spirited—it's all just part of the act. In reality, most know him to be quite genial and pleasant. It has been said that being "insulted" by Rickles is like "wearing a badge of honor."

THE BEST OF THE DON RICKLES TV SPECIALS features two classic, UNCUT network television specials from the 1970s: The Many Sides of Don Rickles and Don Rickles Alive and Kicking. Rickles is at his insulting best as he's paired with an impressive list of guest stars such as Johnny Carson, Don Adams, Harvey Korman, Anne Meara, Bob Newhart, Carroll O'Connor, Juliet Prowse and Robert Goulet. Plus, exclusive Bonus Features including new introductions from Don and the presentation of the TV Land Awards Legend Award to Don by Jimmy Kimmel.

ALBUM FACTS

Genre: Rock

Description: Art is a cyclical beast. The same can easily be said of Grammy Award nominated hard rock juggernaut Mastodon. The group's four members recognize the importance of life's omnipresent cycles on their sixth full-length album, Once More 'Round the Sun. The band orbits around themes of loss and rebirth, twirling a sonic spiral of its signature robust riffing, hypnotically haunting soundscapes, triage of dynamic voices, and thundering seismic grooves.

The very title says something slightly different for each member. "Quite literally, Once More 'Round the Sun means a year-in-the-life," explains Dailor. "Lyrically, we were discussing things that happened to us recently, whereas in the past we looked further back for inspiration. It's about 365 days in this band. It was a tough and strange journey. We happened to be in the middle of completing a full rotation musically as everything else was going on."

ARTIST & INFO

Hometown: Atlanta, GA Band Members: Troy Sanders (Bass), Brent Hinds (Guitar), Bill Kelliher (Guitar), Brann Dailor (Drums)

"Mastodon have one hell of a career to live up to. Speaking of pressure to meet fan expectations, there's arguably no metal act assumed to deliver brilliance on a regular basis like Mastodon." – Loudwire

Mastodon is a multi-Grammy nominated hard rock juggernaut. From public endorsements of peers as diverse as Metallica, Pearl Jam, Queens of the Stone Age, CeeLo Green, and Feist to unanimous praise from the likes of Time and Rolling Stone, the band has accrued a staggering string of accolades. Their latest, Grammy-nominated album, Once More 'Round The Sun debuted at No. 6 on the Billboard chart—displacing their 2011 album, Hunter, as their highest U.S. chart debut ever.

ARTIST & INFO

Starring Fred Savage as Kevin Arnold; also with Josh Saviano, Danica McKellar, Dan Lauria, Oliva d'Abo, Alley Mills, Jason Herve, and Daniel Stern as the voice of Kevin.

In the history of TV, THE WONDER YEARS is one of the most popular and beloved shows. Set in the late 1960s and early '70s the hit comedy/drama focused on the trials and tribulations of young Kevin Arnold and his family: brother Wayne, sister Karen, father Jack, and mother Norma. Capturing the angst of growing up in suburban middle-class America, the storylines focus on Kevin entering junior high and navigating the rocky adventure of teen years with his "sometimes" girlfriend, Winnie Cooper, and his best friend, Paul Pfeiffer, at his side.

This brilliant series debuted on ABC in 1988 and ran for six seasons. Audiences eagerly followed Kevin's evolution as a typical teenager who remembered every moment of his transition from childhood with excruciating detail and remarkable hindsight.

- Nominated for over 60 awards with 24 wins, including an Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Series in 1988, a Golden Globe for Best Television Series in 1989, and a Peabody Award in 1990.
- The show achieved a spot in the Nielsen Top 30 for four of its six seasons.

ALBUM FACTS

Genre: Country

Description: "Because these songs are so real to me, that's why I feel them so deeply. Acting is as real as it can be, but music is so personal. It's my life." That's especially true on thirty one, where Kramer shows she can craft a narrative and a compelling melody as well as anyone in her genre. "When I first got to Nashville, I was so shy and timid, knowing that I was writing songs with people who had written a million Number Ones," she admits. "But then I realized I have stories to tell too. So I came into the new album knowing exactly what I wanted to write -- and it had to be 100 percent about my life." If anything, Kramer admits, this means being even more country than much of what defines that genre these days. "I didn't want to follow what other people are doing," she says. "Of course, I love a lot of what I hear on country radio. But I definitely feel that Scott and I did a great job of bringing in elements of today's sound while keeping that country element I identify with too."

ARTIST & INFO

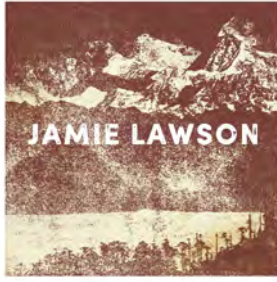

Hometown: Nashville TN

Just ask Jana Kramer and she'll tell you she's: "Just getting started." And it's that drive and love for music that has been the driving force behind her career. After all, in just a little over three years, she has become one of country music's brightest new stars. Her platinum debut single, "Why Ya Wanna," rocketed to No. 3 on the Billboard Hot Country Songs chart in 2012 making her the most played new artist of that year. Her self-titled debut album hit No. 5. In 2013, the Academy of Country Music honored her with its Top New Female Artist Award, and Blake Shelton picked her to open on his "Ten Times Crazier" tour. That's a lot to have accomplished in just a little time. And Kramer is grateful for the success that has come her way. "I still have a lot of prove," she insists. "I'm better at what I'm doing than I ever was before. And I'm not going anywhere." Kramer, you see, was already a star when she broke into country music, with a massive fan base she had built as an actress in numerous films and TV shows. What few knew was that long before reciting her first scripted line, Kramer was a passionate lover of country music. In fact, she ended her high-profile, two-year run on The CW's "One Tree Hill" to focus on her singing, songwriting and onstage performance. Her bona fides were confirmed on Jana Kramer. "But that first album was an introduction," she explains. "This new one, is my baby album. Not that I don't love the first one, but the second album really represents who I am and where I've been throughout all of my life."

ALBUM FACTS

Genre: Jazz

ARTIST & INFO

Hometown: New York, NY

Brad Mehldau played in a number of different ensembles, including label mate Joshua Redman's quartet, before becoming a bandleader himself in the 1990s. The Brad Mehldau Trio, which tours the world extensively, made eight acclaimed recordings for Warner Bros., including the five widely praised Art of the Trio albums with former drummer Jorge Rossey (released as a boxed set by Nonesuch in 2011). The pianist's nine years with Nonesuch have been equally productive, beginning with the solo disc Live in Tokyo and including six trio records Day is Done, House on Hill, Live, Ode, and Where Do You Start, as well as a collaboration with soprano Renée Fleming, Love Sublime; a chamber ensemble album, Highway Rider; two collaborations with label mate Pat Metheny, Metheny Mehldau and Quartet, the latter of which also includes Trio members Jeff Ballard and Larry Grenadier; a CD/DVD set of live solo performances, Live in Marciac; and collaborations with genre-crossing musicians on Modern Music, with composer/pianist Kevin Hays and composer/arranger Patrick Zimmerli. Additionally, he produced saxophonist Joshua Redman's 2013 release Walking Shadows.

According to Modern Drummer, Mark Guiliana is "at the forefront of an exciting new style of drumming." The New Jersey native's unique and un-compromised approach to playing the drums has earned him international acclaim as both a leader and a sideman. In 2004, Guiliana created HEERNT, an "experimental-garage-jazz" trio based in New York. The band's debut record, Locked in a Basement, was called the record "the most exuberant, dramatic, beautiful, sassy, genre-busting little outing that I've heard since I don't know when" by legendary drummer Bill Bruford (Yes, King Crimson). As a sideman, Guiliana's longest partnership has been with world-renowned jazz bassist Avishai Cohen. He toured all over the world with Cohen from 2003 until 2008, performing on six studio records and a live DVD recorded at the Blue Note in Manhattan. Guiliana has also recorded and/or performed with Meshell Ndegeocello, Dhafer Youssef, Wayne Krantz, Matisyahu, Jazz Mandolin Project, Jason Lindner, Brad Shepik, Bobby McFerrin, Tigran Hamasyan, and many more. His debut solo record, Beat Music, which was co-produced by Ndegeocello, was released in the spring of 2013. Guiliana plays Gretsch drums, Sabian cymbals, Vic Firth sticks, and Evans drumheads.

Description: Blurryface is the much anticipated second studio album from twenty one pilots. ARTIST & INFO

Hometown: Columbus, Ohio Band Members: Tyler Joseph
Josh Dun

The duo, which initially formed in 2009 and released two albums on their own, began writing the songs while touring extensively on their Fueled By Ramen debut Vessel, which was released in January of 2013. The album landed in the Billboard Top 200 and at No. 15 on the Billboard Top Rock Albums chart, and has sold over 300,000 copies, as well as 1,000,000 singles. To support the album, which was No. 1 on Alternative Press' 10 Essential Albums of 2013, Twenty One Pilots embarked on a series of headlining tours that took them to over 325 shows worldwide. As they traveled, stopping to perform at festivals like Bonnaroo, Hangout Fest, Lollapalooza, Outside Lands, Download and Summersonic, and appearing at the 2014 MTV Movie Awards and on Conan and Late Night With Seth Meyers, Josh and Tyler began conceiving ideas for a new album.

Description:

STEP BACK IN TIME WITH MUSICAL TREASURES FROM A COUNTRY MUSIC ICON: HANK WILLIAMS

At the peak of his career in 1951, Hank Williams recorded 143 songs for the Mother's Best Flour Company. Hank performed with his regular studio band and recorded his hits as well as songs he never recorded commercially anywhere else. From this amazing legacy, Time Life is proud to release HANK WILLIAMS: I SAW THE LIGHT: THE UNRELEASED RECORDINGS, a historic 54-track, 3-CD + 1 DVD collection drawn from the very best of the Mother's Best recordings. It's a rare, informal glimpse into the heart and soul of country music's greatest star who passed away on New Year's Day 1953, at age 29.

These recordings give us a deeper insight into Hank's life and music, showing a personality that had never been revealed previously. In this casual setting, it showcases his humor as he jokes with his band and the emcee, his love of music as he talks unguardedly about his favorite songs, and captures him in his prime. These shows are the first truly three-dimensional portrait of one of the giants of American music. What emerges is a full, rounded portrait of Williams at his creative and commercial peak.

"Lovesick Blues" is here, along with fine versions of "I Can't Help It (If I'm Still in Love with You)," "A Mansion on the Hill," and the Williams-composed gospel classic "I Saw the Light."

EXCLUSIVE BONUS DVD: Hear the incredible story of these unreleased recordings in this revealing behind-the-scenes conversation between Hank's daughter, Jett Williams, and two members of Hank's band, Don Helms and Big Bill Lister.

WHY BUY?

- Hank Williams is regarded as one of the most significant and influential American singers and songwriters of the 20th century.
- This is classic country in its truest sense.
- 3-CD set with 54 songs, plus an exclusive bonus DVD not available anywhere else!

ARTIST & INFO

Hank Williams' career was brief and incendiary. Most of those fortunate enough to have seen him in concert say that he was a captivating performer. Now, sixty years after his passing, we finally get a sense of Hank Williams onstage, adding another dimension to our scant knowledge of him. Still popular today, he's a giant in American music.

DESTINED TO SURVIVE: The performances heard here were recorded on acetate discs (meant to be played only once or twice) that were shelved in 1951, and they gradually faded from common memory. In the 1970s the acetates were saved from the trash by a WSM employee and eventually given to Hank's daughter, Jett. On behalf of the estate, Jett fought an eight-year battle to establish ownership, finally winning the right to release these recordings in partnership with Time Life.

ALBUM FACTS

Genre: Christian

Description: ? In moments of great joy, there's something different about us. In moments of deep sorrow, there is something different about us. When we're knocked down, cast out, and the odds seem insurmountable, there is something different about us. When life feels impossible, there is something different about us. We go through trials with our heads up. We battle sickness knowing where true strength comes from. We shine love recklessly through the darkness knowing all the while that there is in fact something different about us and that something is Jesus Christ. SOMETHING DIFFERENT is an unashamed declaration that Jesus Christ is the way, truth, and the life. We stand together armed with true love, the greatest weapon against the darkness. – Sidewalk Prophets

ARTIST & INFO

Hometown: Muswell Hill, London, England, United Kingdom Band Members: Jess Glynne

Jess Glynne is a woman in possession of a rather fantastically distinctive vocal herself. You've already heard the UK muses richly evocative voice featured on the GRAMMY award winning No.1 classical-dance smash 'Rather Be' with Clean Bandit. Fresh off a second smash collaboration with Clean Bandit, "Real Love," it's time for Jess to introduce her own sound, a distinguished mix of "Hip Hop with a soul voice and a sprinkling of pop." She's currently in the studio working on a debut album slated for release on Atlantic Records which features the single, "Hold My Hand" already receiving acclaim as "a stunningly smart pop track with the smokiest, most honest vocals this side of the Atlantic" by SPIN, doubled by VULTURE as a "powerful piece of pop" and furthered by SPIN as a "breath-taking display of swooning acrobatics." "I know that I'm one of a number of British girls to release this year," says Jess. "But I'm confident in who I am. What makes me different is my experiences, my personality, my songwriting. I've had different life experiences, like we all have, and all of that makes me who I am – me."

ARTIST & INFO

Pal Waaktaar and Magne Furuholmen, formerly of Bridges formed a-ha in the early '80s. Morten Harket joined the duo, and they left for the now "legendary London flat" (so called because of its state of disrepair) to make it. By late 1983 they had achieved part of that goal by signing to WEA. "Take on Me" took three times to become a hit in the U.K., eventually hitting number two in November 1985. Going one better in the U.S. mainly due to the wide exposure of its stunning video on MTV, which fused animation with real-life action, their only further hit there was "The Sun Always Shines on T.V." which became a U.K. number one in early 1986 helping take the album Hunting High and Low to the Top Ten. Mostly an album of synth pop, the press were quick to dismiss them as a teeny bop sensation; however, there was more to a-ha than met the ear in Waaktaar's writing, and a more mature effort, Scoundrel Days, was released in October 1986. More focused, it had a stronger band feel thanks to its live drumming, displayed to great lengths on "The Swing of Things" and lead single "I've Been Losing You" -- a shock to critics at the time. Further striking imagery accompanied "Cry Wolf." After a world tour, a-ha supplied the soundtrack to the James Bond flick The Living Daylights. A remix appeared on their third album, Stay on These Roads, in 1988. Considered lackluster, Stay on These Roads did feature some interesting lyrics in "Blood That Moves the Body," regarding the over-intense affection the Japanese had for popular icons in their kamikaze-like suicides. On a lighter note, one of the famous quotes of this period came from Waaktaar: commenting on Def Leppard's success with Hysteria, he scoffed that a-ha were more rock & roll! In 1990, a-ha were commended by the Everly Brothers for their rendition of "Crying in the Rain" from their fourth album, East of the Sun, West of the Moon, which was largely ignored in the U.K. due to a shift in interests toward dance and the Manchester scene. 1993 heralded some much needed new blood in the U2 terrain of "Dark Is the Night" from the Memorial Beach album. Following the unfortunate lack of success following Memorial Beach, Furuholmen retreated into the art world while Waaktaar released the album Mary Is Coming with his new band Savoy. Seven years after the release of Memorial Beach, a-ha issued Minor Earth Major Sky in summer 2000. 2002's Lifelines sold well in Europe and was followed by a lengthy tour, documented on the live album How Can I Sleep with Your Voice in My Head, which was released in 2003. A year later the band celebrated their 20th anniversary by releasing Singles 1984-2004, a collection that would put them back on the U.K. Top 20 Albums chart. In July of 2005 the band performed in Berlin as part of the massive worldwide event Live8. In November they released the new album Analogue. It was supported by a worldwide tour that included gigs in Russia and a festival in Chile. The group's ninth studio album, Foot of the Mountain, was released in 2009.

Description: "We The Generation" sees Rudimental championing incredible new young UK singers such as Mahalia on title track 'We The Generation', Anne-Marie—who has signed to the bands brand new record label Major Toms named after Rudimental's Hackney HQ--and Will Heard. A few household names also got in on the album, including Lianne La Havas. Rudimental's extended family is one of the most dynamic musical collectives out there with every vocalist naturally immersing themselves in the melting pot. There are special moments in abundance on "We The Generation," one particular moment comes in the form of 'New Day Coming', a standout future-soul classic in waiting that features vocals by the late Bobby Womack - one of the last tracks he recorded vocals for before he passed away. They have once again struck musical gold with "We The Generation": sound-clashing live instruments, progressive beats and soulful voices. This is what sets Rudimental light years ahead of their contemporaries.

Rewinding to the beginning of this amazing journey in 2012, 'Feel The Love' had taken its place firmly at the No. 1 spot, selling over 90,000 copies in its first week. The band crafted a song so huge it was an instant hit that resonated with all sorts of music fans from all walks of life, while still maintaining a strong sense of musicality. And that's the thing about Rudimental; they are a collective with a strong musical heart. With influences ranging from Sly and the Family Stone to Bobby Womack, George Clinton and Steely Dan, "We The Generation" continues to exemplify that message.

The upbeat and euphoric feeling that is their trademark permeates everything, whether it's a huge drum and bass lead track like 'Never Let You Go-which is also off the second album--or a classy house track like 'Rumour Mill'. But their live set up is where they come into their own, translating their music in way that engages the audience from beginning to end. Their live achievements to date are something spectacular to note, from supporting Ed Sheeran on his recent US arena tour, to major music festivals across the globe, including appearances at this year's Governors Ball Music Festival in New York, and Bonnaroo in Manchester, TN.

ARTIST & INFO

Hometown: London, England Band Members: Piers Aggett, Kesi Dryden, Amir Amor and Leon Rolle

Bursting out of London's underground music scene with its thrilling world of pirate radio, crude DJ set ups, improvised studios, and bleeding edge beats come Rudimental (Piers Aggett, Kesi Dryden, Amir Amor and Leon Rolle): A pioneering melting-pot collective who have taken the British music scene by storm, championed for their uncompromising approach to music-making whilst avoiding rigid classification.

You've probably heard them - from their huge drum & bass-meets-soul anthem and No. 1 single 'Feel The Love'; their 'Later... with Jools Holland' TV performance; their historic BBC Radio 1 Hackney Weekend extravaganza (which saw their second ever live show become the most shared performance of the entire festival); or been immersed in the thrilling energy of their live shows, DJ sets or groundbreaking videos. Rudimental have achieved global recognition among tastemakers at lightning speed - starting when The XX blogged Rudimental's airy soulful house offering 'Spoons' in February.

Taking a "traditional" songwriting approach as much as an electronic one in their music making, Rudimental mix live instrumentation (Hammond, Rhodes, horns, live bass etc) with digital programming. As Rudimental's Piers says, "our sound is organic. It's the result of years of raving, listening to pirate radio, listening to dubs, to tapes older brothers would bring home, and being inspired by all of it. We're products of our individual musical journeys and of London".

While Kesi (keyboard player/percussionist) is a self-confessed hip hop head, former Deja Vu FM DJ, Piers (Hammond, keys) names jazz and blues as influences alongside grime artists like Dizze Rascal. Leon (DJ) remembers using his dinner money to purchase the latest vinyl and attributes the band's success to an ability to retool and subvert the best of UK underground music (garage, grime, dubstep, drum & bass) in their own style. Fellow band mate Amir (guitar and keys), grew up in Camden and won a PRS song writing award in 2001. He spent the winnings on a guitar and via a mentoring scheme, met Plan B who taught him how to play his first chords aged 16. He went on to earn nods as one of NME 'Top 20 Hottest Producers'. Amir says of the Rudimental sound: "The unifying thing is the soul influence and the bass influence, those two things are always there"

"Rudimental" (so-named after the Rudiments book of piano exercises Kesi's music teacher drilled him on as a child) write as a group pulling from one another's strengths. The result of this sound-clash style is bubbling with energy, with thick, layered basslines, live instruments, and contagious hooks that both reflects London and translates outside the city.

Human, yet cutting-edge music, it creates a strong connection with the listener: as Piers says "It's important for us to tell a story as much as we can about the things we're passionate about - what's happening on a grassroots level in cities, because that's where we come from". This is something the band have espoused in the brilliant promo films for the singles 'Feel The Love' and 'Not Giving In' : respectively documenting the horse-riding lifestyle of North Philadelphia's Fletcher Street and the perilous yet vibrant culture of Manila's slums. It is these fundamental human and emotional aspects coupled with sonic experimentation that has created some of the most forward-looking music and videos this year.

Freeing themselves from one specific sound, and the shackles of creating electronic music with a laptop, the boys take influence from each others varying musical strengths and their unifying starting point (Hackney). Around them in Hackney the band have found a well of untapped talent - be that 'Feel The Love's' vocalist John Newman or trumpeter extraordinaire Mark Crown. This extended family, or wider orbiting collective, reads like a who's who of emerging UK talent - MNEK, Syron, Sinead Harnett -
