Architecture in Helsinki's Places Like This is being reissued this Record Store Day as a limited edition run of 500 copies on 180-gram pink vinyl.

Places Like This is ten songs of instantly lovable pop brilliance, fizzing with electrical currents, channeling calypso rhythms and tropicalia flavors with lashings of percussion a-go-go. The album packs a kaleidoscopic punch that isn't far from astounding. Pop effervescence hasn't sounded this fresh in ages.

Ass to Mouth b/w Colour Wheel is the first offering from Busdriver's highly anticipated untitled full-length, a record that has promised to be more daring and genre-defying than any effort he has released previously. On ATM Busdriver's baritone goes from a half spoken croon to a blaring holler as he vilifies himself as a failure and narcissist while decrying the demands of a fictitious fickle audience. The production, courtesy of new beat producer talent Loden, is both abrasive and nebulous. Layered synth lines weave in between throbbing drum programming and stacks of fluctuating vocals giving the loopy chorus a strange synergy that should be reserved for sci-fi films.

"Colour Wheel", on the other hand, wields darker hues from a similar palette. It plays out like some post-apocalyptic love ballad retrieved from a dying computer. Digital sheen highlights the subtleties in the sung sentiment while ascending synth arpeggios run frantic.

Busdriver is venturing beyond his comfort zone and the world is a better place for it.

William Fitzsimmons is equal parts songwriter and psychotherapist, creating captivating music which uniquely melds depravity, honesty, and autobiography into a counter intuitively seamless whole. Since 2005, Fitzsimmons has created three full-length albums, each thoroughly themed and embossed with matters of family history, intimate disclosure, and bold confession, yielding rich folk music, ranging from the stark and acoustic to the voluminous and electronic. All the while reflecting his commitment to addressing what is always pressing, and yet all too often ignored.

The appeal of Fitzsimmons' sound is indicative of his unique upbringing and consequent life experience. Born to two blind parents, Fitzsimmons grew up in a home where sound - particularly music - was integral to communication. His parents had an assortment of guitars, pianos and other instruments, and introduced young William to the music of James Taylor, Joni Mitchell and Leonard Cohen, among others. For many years, armed with a Master's degree in counseling from Geneva College, he worked as a mental health therapist, and only began recording his songs during graduate school breaks.

While previous releases have been a detailed and agonizing retelling of events, the forthcoming album Gold In The Shadow is about Fitzsimmons' personal regeneration in the aftermath of those experiences. Based on a specific set of psychopathological disorders from the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders IV (DSM-IV), Fitzsimmons describes the songs as "a real and long coming confrontation with personal demons, past mistakes, and the specter of mental illness which has hovered over me for the great majority of my life."

Overview

When is a Franz Ferdinand 12" not a Franz Ferdinand 12"?

Well, this wonderful very limited Record Store Day exclusive is the answer.

Domino founder Laurence Bell began collecting an interesting group of re-interpretations of songs from the band's most recent album, Tonight, over the last year. And this limited-edition 12" is the fruits of those labors and is being especially made for Record Store Day.

LCD Soundsystem return the earlier favor for Franz covering their own classic jam, "All My Friends." They are followed by the bawdy and bodacious Peaches, who takes "Turn It On" to rightfully perverse depths.

South Bronx minimalist funk legends ESG are sure to deliver the most unique interpretation here with their take on "What She Came For." Stephin Merritt from The Magnetic Fields' version of the album closer, "Dream Again" is a brooding as that song and Stephen's persona could hope to conjure. Lastly, the grand dame, Deborah Harry joining Franz Ferdinand for their own collaborative re-interpretation of "Live Alone."

All in all, this is one amazing treat.

THE BAND:

Touring makes for strange bedfellows, and in the best of cases, future studio partners. This partially explains how New England punk-rock hustlers Jason Chandler (vocals, artwork), Terry Linehan (guitar, backing vocals) and Art Tedeschi (drums)—see Hope Anchor, Waterdog et al—established a decade-long recording kinship with the Frustrators' Cali-raised fourth man and bassist, Green Day's Mike Dirnt.

"I don't think it would be something we'd be comfortable doing without Mike," says Linehan. "He's a big part of what makes us tick. It wouldn't be the same, and would be probably a disappointment to the kids who come out to see us if he wasn't there."

Consistent with that consideration for their patient, loyal audience, Griller won't alienate the group's core fans. Its quartet of tidy gems clock in at around a dozen minutes, and bring to mind Bay Area peers like American Steel and scratchy '90s melody makers Jawbreaker (whom Linehan also cites as a personal influence). The EP's furthest sonic experimentation might be the languid, reverb-y surf licks on "West of Texas (Part 2)," a sequel of sorts to Achtung Jackass' "Part 1" that wouldn't sound out of place on a Hoodoo Gurus record.

It is, of course, all about the songs. And Dirnt's signature, concentric bass lines will ring with immediacy to new and incoming Frustrators fans alike. But Griller, and the Frustrators as a whole, represents the cohesive sum of Dirnt and Tedeschi's sturdy rhythmic foundation supporting Chandler's tune-carrying, self-assured vocals and Linehan's proto-punk thrust on guitar. Griller is pop-punk without the polish, pretense or preening, and exactly the kind of de-glammed, good-spirited experience music needs in 2011.

"It has all the elements that make the Frustrators the Frustrators," Linehan confirms. "It has a pop sensibility and is a little bit outside of the punk confines. We've all matured as musicians and songwriters. Any time any of us record we want it to be the best that we can be." And as for whether that involves striving toward the standard of Dirnt's other, more famous band, Linehan laughs and confesses, "The bar's pretty high. We're not trying to jump over the bar or just shimmy under it. But we at least want to be five feet under looking up at it."

OVERVIEW:

The Kills - Jamie Hince and Alison Mosshart - are back with "Satellite", available exclusively on 10" for Record Store Day. "Satellite" is the debut single, and the perfect introduction to the band's new album, Blood Pressures (out April 5th), the highly anticipated follow-up to their critically acclaimed third album, Midnight Boom.

"Satellite" features Alison's melancholy vocals enveloping a dub influenced guitar, building to a soaring, swelling chorus with additional vocals contributed by The REV Gospel Collective. The b-sides features a dub mix by the one, and only, Mad Professor.

The album Blood Pressures finds The Kills with their swagger and sass intact, but with a new thoughtfulness and depth - even a tinge of wistfulness and vulnerability - to their always compelling songwriting. As one of the most vital, striking bands recording today, The Kills' vividly unique "rock" is at once effortless, edgy and timeless.

SELLING POINTS

- Limited edition of 500 pieces for Record Store Day.
- The three previous albums have scanned over 120,000 since release with Midnight Boom selling 70,000- yes, their fan base is growing!

Mighty Clouds is the new project from Fred Thomas (Saturday Looks Good to Me, City Center) and Betty Marie Barnes (SLGTM). Their self-titled debut is a split release between Polyvinyl and Life Like.

Mighty Clouds is a collaboration of the sort that can only occur when two musicians connect on a level that goes beyond the songs they are performing. Throughout Mighty Clouds' self-titled debut, Thomas and Barnes's musical camaraderie generates a gentle electricity that exudes intimacy and beckons the listener to move in for a closer listen.

Against a backdrop of delicate, unified instrumentation and subtle orchestration, Barnes' incredible voice and Thomas' songwriting prowess shine unabated. With its stripped-down sound Mighty Clouds strikes a unique balance between Thomas' sparse solo recordings and SLGTM's Spector-esque production values.

SENNEN

'Age of Denial'

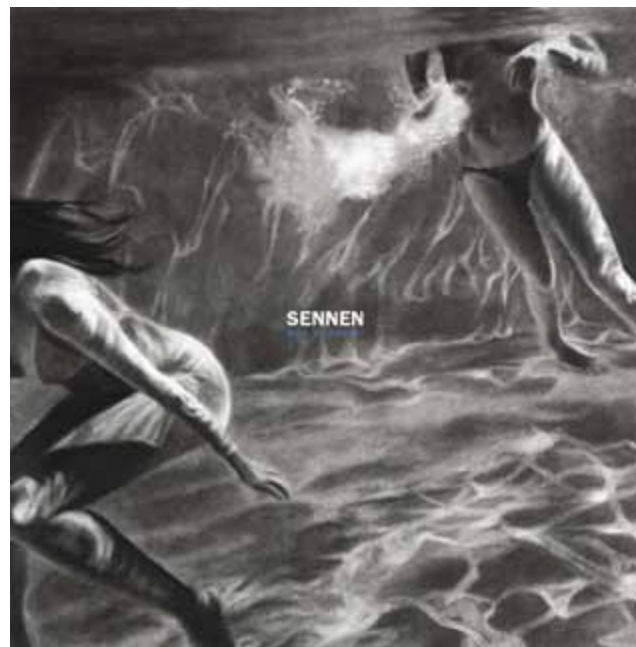

Limited edition blue heavyweight vinyl

STREET DATE: April 16, 2011

(RECORD STORE DAY)

Age of Denial is a remarkable package of dreamy pop music sitting perfectly within SENNEN's trademark, invigorating, shoe-gaze sound. Having purloined their name from a song title belonging to Ride, SENNEN have always been capable of abruptly changing musical lanes from startlingly beautiful, duel harmony pop to powerful, hypnotic anthems of infused noise but this album has defined why the U.K. four-piece has continued to earn themselves respect.

From the stadium sized title track to the monotonous and absurdly catchy beats of With You, the unashamed pop of A Little High and Innocence, the signatory, uplifting SENNEN flavored indie of Broken Promise, Red Horizon and Can't See the Light riding alongside the heart wrenching Sleep Heavy Tonight and Falling Down to the dirty grunge of S.O.S. (as heard in the hit TV series TRUE BLOOD), it is the sort of pop music that all bands with banks and banks of distortion pedals should at least try and achieve.

1. Age of Denial
2. With You
3. A Little High
4. Falling Down
5. S.O.S.
6. Innocence
7. Red Horizon
8. Can't See The Light
9. Sleep Heavy Tonight
10. Sennen's Day Out
11. Broken Promise
12. Out of Our Depth

Someone Still Loves You Boris Yeltsin's Broom is being reissued on vinyl this Record Store Day as a limited edition run of 500 copies on 180-gram white vinyl. LP features three songs not found on the CD along with download code that includes two digital bonus tracks.

The members of Someone Still Loves You Boris Yeltsin couldn't list a single music blog until their lo-fi MP3s and low-res JPEGs made them worldwide icons of Blogdom in 2005. Even Spin read an SSLYBY blog, downloaded their music and declared the Missouri band "could succeed The Shins as the band that will change your life."

Recorded in the attic and living room of guitarist Will Knauer's home, Broom, SSLYBY's debut record, is an expertly crafted indie pop gem.

THE SUBMARINES

LOVE NOTES / LETTER BOMBS

Indie-pop duo THE SUBMARINES return with LOVE NOTES/LETTER BOMBS, their third full-length release. Self-produced with mixing from John O'Mahony (Metric, Coldplay), Love Notes/Letter Bombs is the follow-up to 2008's critically acclaimed Honeysuckle Weeks.

If their 2006 debut, Declare A New State, was a biographical recounting of their break-up and eventual reconciliation, 2008's Honeysuckle Weeks was an ode to the irrepressible mystery and magnificence of love's newness; themes of blossoming gardens, life and love were woven together by vintage pop, intricately layered electronica and old school-dub. The album launched the Subs into the global slipstream, as their songs appeared everywhere -- from television (Gossip Girl, Grey's Anatomy) and film (Nick And Norah's Infinite Playlist) to multiple spots for Apple's iPhone. The band toured North America and Europe extensively, sharing a stage with the likes of The Morning Benders, Aimee Mann and Brazilian Girls.

Love Notes/Letter Bombs picks up where Honeysuckle Weeks left off, except this time John Dragonetti and Blake Hazard find themselves in a new house, fervidly exchanging love notes and letter bombs. "I imagined a couple in a rambling old broken-down mansion, like something from a Wes Anderson movie," says Blake of the album title's inspiration, "pushing flower pots off the balcony onto each other, tying a love note around a brick and throwing it through a window."

Though Love Notes/Letter Bombs is disarmingly easy to listen to, one can't help but notice the general theme of conflict leaping from each track. As personal and professional lives intertwine, tensions can run as high as the love on certain days, as the lyrics to these 10 songs suggest.

VARIOUS ARTISTS NO ONE GOT HURT

DESCRIPTION

On September 12th, 2009, one of those improbably nice late summer days Chicagoans hold onto as a comfort memory during the lengthy winter bleakness, the Hideout Block Party hosted Bloodshot Records' 15th Anniversary celebration. We soaked in the day with loads of old friends, allies, associates and fans from at least 28 states and 4 countries. No tents or port-a-johns caught fire or tipped over, no belt sanders flew into the gathered throngs; there were no lost children, knife fights, fist fights, food fights, thunderstorms, snowstorms, shitstorms or beer shortages (despite your best efforts); the stage didn't collapse, the sound system didn't rebel, the bands all showed up and hit the stage at more or less the right times and played the way we love.

The Hideout has been like our clubhouse over the years, and that day we had over 4000 members.

And no one got hurt.

"Label owners Nan Warshaw and Rob Miller transformed their respective experience in the belly of the music industry beast (not to mention their healthy contempt) into, for all intents and purposes, an anti-label, a family-like atmosphere where artists and loyalty are not mutually exclusive. Look at it this way: at the intersection of country, rock and punk—that's Bloodshot territory, and no one does it better." —PASTE

UBIQUITY RECORDS PRESENTS

SAVE THE MUSIC - A COMPILATION FOR RECORD STORE DAY

FOR INFORMATION AND SOUNDCLIPS OF OUR TITLES, GO TO WWW.UBIQUITYRECORDS.COM/PRESS

STREET DATE: 04/16/2011

Save the Music - A compilation for Record Store Day features exclusive new music from: AM, Princess Superstar, The Incredible Tabla Band, S.Marharba, Letherette, Dibiasé, Jed & Lucia, NOMO, Shawn Lee, Magnatite, and a re-issued folksy funk joint from Pats

People. The compilation is available on 3 limited edition, hand-numbered, 12" singles and on a limited edition compilation CD. A digital version of the compilation will follow shortly.

The track list was put together with the help of our musical friends Shawn Lee, The Groove Merchant record store, and the influential radio show/podcast BTS Radio. The idea behind the compilation was to make a musical collection that was as eclectic, fun, and deep as our favorite record stores...

Shawn Lee chose to include a slamming new track from his forthcoming collaboration album with the soulful melodic pop crooner AM, a funky hip hop joint with NY vocalist Princess Superstar and a sneak peak at his new Incredible Tabla Band covering the ultimate breaks n'beats favorite Apache (originally by the Incredible Bongo Band.) Lee's connections extend further into the comp with the highly sought-after NOMO collaboration "Upside Down" that was released on limited edition 7" and sold at NOMO shows earlier this year. He also remixes Jed and Lucia's "Apostrophe," into an impossibly infectious breezy bossa.

Jed and Lucia make a second appearance, dropping a brand new sunny-styled chill wave-goes-Brazil cut called "This is Why," as selected by BTS radio. Since 2003, Andrew Meza's BTS radio has presented some of the most original and progressive music podcasts and is credited with spearheading the worldwide beat movement, and introducing acts like Flying Lotus and Hudson Mohawke. BTS-partner Charles Munka designed the album and 12" art for Save the Music. BTS other picks for the comp come from Dibiasé who was crowned the Red Bull-LA Big Tune 2010 Champion and has received nods and praise from DJ Premier and Flying Lotus. S.Marharba, who hails from Ipswich in the UK, creates infectious, haunting, boom-bap inspired pieces and features a ghostly vocal from Jed and Lucia. Letherette are becoming one of the most hotly tipped acts in electronic music having presented their first official EP, a feature on Gilles Peterson's "Brownswood Electric" comp and a remix for Solar Bears Planet Mu debut in the last 12 months.

To round out the compilation Groove Merchant owner "Cool" Chris Veltri picked a brand new track from Magnatite (top secret project from the Clutchy Hopkins camp) to partner the music of super-obscure Irish band Pats People.

1. AM and Shawn Lee - Dark Into Light
2. NOMO and Shawn Lee - Upside Down
3. S.Marharba feat. Jed and Lucia - So Much Skin
4. Jed and Lucia - Apostrophe (Shawn Lee mix)
5. Magnatite - Don't Close The Door
6. Pats People - December Sequel
7. Jed and Lucia - This is Why
8. Dibiasé - Cybertron
9. Letherette - Roses
10. Shawn Lee feat. Princess Superstar - Anger Management

SAVE THE MUSIC 12" NO. 1 - SHAWN LEE EXCLUSIVES

STREET DATE: 04/16/2011

Save the Music – is a compilation for Record Store Day that features exclusive new music from: AM, Princess Superstar, The Incredible Tabla Band, S.Marharba, Letherette, Dibiase, Jed & Lucia, NOMO, Shawn Lee, Magnatite, and a re-issued folky funk joint from Pats People.

The music from the limited edition compilation CD is spread across 3 limited edition (500 of each only!), hand-numbered, 12" singles.

The track list for each of the 12"s was put together with the help of our musical friends Shawn Lee, The Groove Merchant record store, and the influential radio show/podcast BTS Radio.

12" # 1 was curated by Shawn Lee who chose to include a slamming new track from his forthcoming collaboration album with the soulful and melodic pop-crooner AM. "Dark into Light" sees the duo propel each other into their best work yet. AM's honeyed vocals ride a driving percussion section straight into walls of shimmering guitars and glassy keyboards pulling elements as disparate as Gary Numan, Jorge Ben, and Ariel Pink into 3:54 of perfect future pop. Critically acclaimed indie artist AM hails from New Orleans and currently lives in Los Angeles. His album Future Sons & Daughters was named in the Top 100 albums of 2010 by Rough Trade, given a four-star rating by Q Magazine and a five out of five-star rating by U.K. Sunday Express as "one of the great pop albums of the year." AM spent 2010 on the road opening for AIR, Caetano Veloso and Charlotte Gainsbourg. Fortunately he found time to check Lee's "Music and Rhythm" album after hearing it on LA radio. Lee and AM became friends sharing a love for film soundtracks and vintage sounds, and their album is scheduled for release this year.

Another collab' sees NYC-based Princess Superstar and Lee team-up for a funky hip hop joint. Lee has produced tracks for her new album, alongside The Rural, NYCEBOY, Mega, and Mighty Mi. Superstar has recorded with everyone from Grandmaster Flash, Arthur Baker, Todd Terry, and Kool Keith. Her musical style, as she describes it (with tongue firmly in cheek) is flip-flop — a mixture of 'hip hop, electroclash and electronica.' Her sense of humor shines through on "Anger

And lastly Lee gives us a sneak peak at his new Incredible Tabla Band project. On this 12" they cover the ultimate breaks n'beats favorite "Apache" (originally by the Incredible Bongo Band.) Watch out for more Incredible Tabla Band escapades later this year.

Save the Music – is a compilation for Record Store Day that features exclusive new music from: AM, Princess Superstar, The Incredible Tabla Band, S.Marharba, Letherette, Dibiase, Jed & Lucia, NOMO, Shawn Lee, Magnatite, and a re-issued folky funk joint from Pats People.

The music from the limited edition compilation CD is spread across 3 limited edition (500 of each only!), hand-numbered, 12" singles.

The track list for each of the 12"s was put together with the help of our musical friends Shawn Lee, The Groove Merchant record store, and the influential radio show/podcast BTS Radio.

Groove Merchant owner "Cool" Chris Veltri picked a brand new Magnatite track to partner the music of super-obscure Irish band Pats People. Both reflect Veltri's taste for cosmic, laid-back, folksy-funk.

Pats People featured members of folk band the Wayfarers, and the Irish Rovers, and they recorded their early 1970s "Silver Rains from Afar" album having moved from Ireland to Detroit.

"Don't Shut The Door" is a brand new cut from Magnatite, and is a sneak peak to their forthcoming album. It was inspired, in part, by the infamous Groove Merchant psychedelic mix "Trap Door," and is a new project from the Clutchy Hopkins crew – details are murky (as they always are with CH,) but we've been told there will be a BIG Clutchy

Hopkins announcement with the release of the Magnatite record this summer.

On the flip, for the first time ever on 12" vinyl, Round Robins "Our Love Is So True" is certified essential soulful-disco.

"Ass To Mouth" b/w "Colour Wheel" is the first offering from Busdriver's highly anticipated untitled full-length, a record that has promised to be more daring and genre-defying than any effort he has released previously. On this release, Busdriver's baritone goes from a half spoken croon to a blaring holler as he vilifies himself as a failure and narcissist while decrying the demands of a fictitious, fickle audience. The production, courtesy of new beat producer talent Loden, is both abrasive and nebulous. Limited edition of 1,000 on baby blue vinyl.

William Fitzsimmons is equal parts songwriter and psychotherapist, creating captivating music which uniquely melds depravity, honesty, and autobiography into a counter-intuitively seamless whole. While previous releases have been a detailed and agonizing retelling of events, Gold In The Shadow is about Fitzsimmons' personal regeneration in the aftermath of those experiences. He describes the songs as "a real and long coming confrontation with personal demons, past mistakes, and the specter of mental illness which has hovered over me for the great majority of my life."

Mike Gordon, bassists and founding member of the seminal rock band Phish, released is latest solo album, Moss, on Rounder Records in October of 2010. For Record Store Day, Mike wanted to give fans a sneak peak into the making of that album. The idea was not to remix the songs, but instead, to work with the moments that had lead to the germination of the songs that ended up on the album. The two tracks include bits of original demos, bass and drum jams, and added textures. Created exclusively for Record Store Day.

Bloodshot's first all-live compilation. On September 12, 2009, the Hideout Block Party hosted Bloodshot's 15th Anniversary celebration. We soaked in the day with loads of old friends, allies, associates, and fans from at least 28 states and four countries. No tents or port-a-johns caught fire or tipped over; there were no lost children, knife fights, fist fights, food fights, thunderstorms, snowstorms, shitstorms, or beer shortages (despite your best efforts); the stage didn't collapse, the sound system didn't rebel, the bands all showed up, and hit the stage at more or less the right times and played the way we love. And no one got hurt.
